LAWS AND REGULATIONS

OF THE

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST.

I. THIS Institution shall be designated "The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East;" and shall consist of Patrons, Vice Patrons, a President, Vice Presidents, and a Treasurer; with Life and Annual Governor and Members; together with such Officers as may be deemed necessary for conducting the affairs of the Society.

II. The office of PATRONS of the Society shall be reserved for such Members of the Royal Family as may honour it with their protection. VICE-PATRONS shall be appointed exclusively from among the Peers, Spiritual and Temporal. The PRESIDENT shall be such Peer or Commoner, and the VICE-PRESIDENTS such Commoners, as may be appointed thereto.

OF MEMBERS AND GOVERNORS.

III. Every person subscribing annually the sum of One Guinea and upward shall be deemed a Member of this Society during the continuance of such Subscription.

IV. Every person giving a Benefaction of Ten Guineas and upward shall be a Member for Life; and upon any Legacy being paid to the Treasurer, the Executors who have administered shall be made Members for Life, calculating at the rate of Fifty Pounds for each Executor; and in case the Legacy shall not amount to a sufficient sum to extend the privilege to all, preference shall be given to the first-named in the Will.

V. Every Clergyman subscribing Half a Guinea annually, shall be considered a Member; and every Clergyman, on contributing a Congregational Collection, to the amount of Twenty Guineas, either at once or at several times, shall also be considered a Member.

VI. Every person who shall collect, in behalf of the Society, 1*s.* or upward per week, or 5*s.* or upward per month, shall be a Member of the Society; and shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings; to receive a Copy of each Annual Report and Sermon, and of each number of the Missionary Register: and shall have their names printed in the Lists of the Society.

VII. Every person subscribing Five Guineas annually, shall be a Governor during the Continuance of such Subscription.

VIII. Every person subscribing Fifty Pounds at one time, or who shall by one additional payment increase his original Subscription to that sum, shall be a Governor for Life.

IX. The Committee shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Members for Life, or Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

X. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the First Tuesday in May; unless that day shall fall on the 7th of May, in which case the Annual Meeting shall be held, for that year, on Tuesday the 30th of April. To such Meeting those Members of the Society shall be summoned by letter who reside within ten miles of the metropolis; when the Proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and a Treasurer and Committee chosen.

XI. A Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society, at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a quorum, shall be called at any time, at the requisition of the General Committee; or by any Thirteen Members, on addressing a letter to the Secretary, specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in three public newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity.

XII. None of the Rules of the Institution shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones established, but at the Annual Meeting, or at a Special Meeting called for that purpose.

XIII. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London by a Clergyman appointed by the General Committee, on the morning of the day on which the Annual Meeting of the Society is held. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XIV. The Committee shall consist of Twenty-four lay Members of the Established Church; and of all such Clergymen as are Members of the Society. Eighteen Members shall be annually appointed from the Old Committee, and Six from the General Body.

XV. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their first Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society, a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds, a Committee of Correspondence, and a Committee of Accounts. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of their Proceedings, and shall report the same to the General Committee.

XVI. The Office of the Committee of Patronage, is, to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate, to the General Committee, proper persons as Patrons, Vice-Patrons, and Vice-Presidents of the Society.

XVII. The Office of the Committee of Funds, is, to circulate information respecting the Institution; to adopt proper means of augmenting the Subscriptions and Benefactions; to obtain Collections in Churches and Chapels; and to nominate from time to time, to the General Committee, suitable persons to act as Agents for the Society in the principal towns throughout the Empire.

XVIII. The Office of the Committee of Correspondence, is, to seek for proper Missionaries, to superintend their instruction, and to correspond with them when sent out.

XIX. The Office of the Committee of Accounts, is, to see that the Subscriptions are duly received, regulate the Accounts, and undertake the charge of fitting out and conveying the Missionaries to their place of destination.

XX. The General Committee shall receive the Reports of the other Committees, shall appoint the places where Missions shall be attempted, shall direct the scale upon which they shall be conducted, and shall superintend the affairs of the Society in general.

XXI. The General Committee shall meet the second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful: the other Committees as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on: their meetings to be always opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable prayers selected from the Liturgy. Five Members shall be necessary to compose a General Committee, and Three each of the others. In case of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XXII. The Patrons, Vice-Patrons, and President, Vice-Presidents, and Treasurer, shall be considered ex officio Members of all Committees.

XXIII. Governors shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the General Committee.

XXIV. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three of the General Committee, in Committee, and the Secretary or Deputy Secretary.

XXV. A Secretary, Deputy Secretary, and Collector, shall be chosen by the General Committee; and whenever they shall deem it necessary for the well conducting the affairs of the Institution that any additional Officer be appointed, they shall have the power of so doing, subject to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting.

The Deputy Secretary and Collector shall attend all Meetings of the Society, and transact all such business thereof as the General Committee shall require: he shall collect all the Subscriptions in London and its environs, pay them into the hands of the Treasurer, and never keep in his own possession more than One Hundred Pounds.

XXVI. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the Committee annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society, of whom Three shall be chosen from the General Body. Three shall be a Quorum.

XXVII. The Life Subscriptions, or a sufficient part thereof, to be equal to the Subscriptions of the existing Members for Life, shall be placed in the Public Funds, in the names of Four of the General Committee; who, on their acceptance of the trust, shall sign a declaration of the nature of it, and that they will relinquish the same whenever called upon for that purpose by the General Committee.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXVIII. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued:—The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence of his qualifications, and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member should declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXIX. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXX. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a special meeting of the Committee, and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXXI. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose, respect however being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings, a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretary.

XXXII. Each Candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist: if admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary.

XXXIII. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee; and, after having laboured in the cause of the Society to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependant relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXIV. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs, under the full conviction, that, unless he "prevent us in all our doings with his most gracious favour, and further us with his continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

CHURCH MISSIONARY ASSOCIATIONS.

THE friends, who meet for the purpose of establishing such Associations, should form themselves into a "Church Missionary Association, in aid of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East"; and should proceed to appoint a Committee and proper Officers.

In large Towns, comprehending several Parishes, it may be expedient to appoint a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and a Secretary; with a pretty numerous Committee, composed of persons from the different parishes.

In Parochial Associations, a Treasurer, a Secretary, and smaller Committee, under the presidency of the Clergyman, may be best suited to conduct the business.

It may sometimes be found expedient to form Associations in Separate Congregations in the same Parish, rather than one Association in the parish at large; and, in this case also, a Treasurer, Secretary, and Committee, under the presidency of the Clergyman, will suffice to accomplish the object.

In a Voluntary Union of Friends, whether the members of the same family, the children of a school, or persons connected by affinity or friendship, such arrangements may be made as may prove most convenient to themselves.

In this manner the members of the Church, and other benevolent persons willing to assist the designs of the Society, from the domestic circle to the largest town, may unite for a purpose most beneficial to their own minds, while it expresses a due regard to the glory of God, the salvation of the heathen, and a proper sense of their own infinite obligations to Divine mercy.

WEEKLY CONTRIBUTIONS.

ALL Persons who collect to the amount of 1*s.* or upward per week in behalf of the Church Missionary Society, are furnished by the Committee with a copy of each number of the "Missionary Register," and of all the Publications of the Society. They are considered Members of the Society, and are entitled to attend and vote at all its Meetings.

Whoever shall become a Collector to the said amount, will be presented with all the preceding Numbers, from January, 1813, so long as there may be a supply on hand; but when the stock shall have been exhausted, they will receive only the preceding Numbers of the current year in which they shall begin to collect.

Such benevolent persons may act separately; or, in conjunction with others, they may form a Committee of a few persons; and, if sufficiently numerous, may organize themselves into a regular Association, with a President and other Officers.

It is particularly recommended to Ladies, to exert themselves in collecting Contributions. They cannot employ their influence and their leisure in a more noble cause.

Weekly Contributions will offer to the heads of Families and Seminaries, an opportunity of turning the pence of their Children or Pupils to a good account, in exciting an interest in them for the success of the Gospel and the conversion of the world; and will thus foster the best charities of the heart. Servants, Labourers, and Mechanics, may now cast their mite into the Treasury of the Christian Church; and take their due share in the noblest efforts of Love—the extenison of Christ's Kingdom throughout the world.

But some, who can give little pecuniary aid, can yet devote a portion of time to collecting the charity of others. Not a few of this description lament that their sphere of usefulness is small, and that they seem precluded from taking much share in the extension of the Redeemer's kingdom. Let such persons now step forward. Let them remember the mite of the widow! Let them recollect that benign declaration, She did what she could! Let them be encouraged to exertion by the assurance, that a man is accepted according to that he hath, and not according to that he hath not. To young men and young women, in particular, who can command either money or time, an opportunity is now offered of testifying their love to Christ and to the perishing Heathen.

AT the Fifteenth Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen Street, on Tuesday, the 2nd of May, 1815,

The Right Hon. LORD GAMBIER, Vice-Patron and President, in the Chair,

That cordial Thanks of this Society be returned to those Friends of the Society throughout the United Kingdom who have prepared or supported Associations—to the Secretary—to the Hon. and very Rev. the Dean of Wells, to the Rev. Messrs. Woodd, Goode, Wilson, Burn, Biddulph, Richmond, Maddock, Jowett, Saunders, Cunningham, Marsh, Powys, Grimshaw, Pearson, and other Clergymen, who have assisted in the establishment of those Associations—and to the Ladies, who, in various parts of the Metropolis and the Country, have most beneficially exerted themselves in behalf of the Society.

On a Motion by the Hon. and very Rev. the Dean of Wells, seconded by Lewis Way, Esq. it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the cordial Thanks of the Meeting be returned to the Rev. E. T. Vaughan, for his impressive Sermon preached before the Society this day, and that he be requested to allow it to be printed with the Report.

On a Motion by the Rev. Daniel Wilson, M. A. seconded by the Rev. Charles Simeon, M. A. of Cambridge, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That John Thornton, Esq. be requested to accept the Office of Treasurer to this Institution.

On a Motion by the Rev. Thomas Conolly Cowan, M. A. of Bristol, seconded by the Rev. Basil Woodd, M. A. it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the sincere Thanks of the Society be given to the Noble President of the Institution, to the other Vice Patrons, and to the Vice Presidents, for their continued Protection; and to the Committee for their successful exertions.

GENERAL STATEMENT OF THE SOCIETY'S PROCEEDINGS.

INDIA.

Calcutta.—A Society is established, to which is allowed the sum of £.1500 per annum, the European Residents and others adding about £.400, to be applied, beside the Salaries allowed to the Society's Missionaries, to the support of Readers of the Scriptures and Catechists, and to the maintenance of Native Schools.

Agra.—Abdool Messee, a converted Mussulman, with Tahb Messee, and several other Christian Natives, are Readers of the Scripture and Catechists, under the Society, with great and increasing success, among the inhabitants of that large and populous city, more than 40 of whom, many of them hitherto proud Mahometans, have been baptized into the Faith, in less than a twelvemonth. See an account of Abdool, and his very interesting Journals, in the Missionary Register. The Rev. Wm. Greenwood, an English Clergyman, and the Rev. Christian Frederick Gotthelf Schroeter, a Lutheran Clergyman, have embarked for India, to assist in carrying on the great work at and round Agra.

Madras.—A Society is formed, to which the sum of £.500 per annum is allowed, for the support of Missions and Schools. Two Lutheran Clergymen, the Rev. John Christian Schnarre, and the Rev. Charles Theophilus Ewald Rhenius, have proceeded to Madras, under licence of the Court of Directors, to enter into the labours of the late Rev. Dr. John, and extend his admirable plans as the Providence of God shall open opportunities before them. About 800 Children, in the Schools of the late Dr. John, are under the care of the Society. The Rev. Thomas Norton, an English Clergyman, with Mrs. Norton and their child, have embarked for Madras, Ceylon.—Petrus Hermanus Gerardus Phillips, and John Gerard Pevera Appohamy, two native Cingalese of high respectability, and descendants of Christian ministers educated in Holland by the Dutch government, are now on their voyage to England, having been selected and recommended to the Society by Sir Alexander Johnston, Chief Justice of the Island, for education for the Christian Ministry among their countrymen.

WESTERN AFRICA.

The Society has formed various Settlements on this coast:

1. Bashia, on the Rio Pongas.
   - Rev. Melchior Renner, Superior of the Mission.
   - Mrs. Renner.
   - Rev. John Godfrey Wilhelm.
   - Mr. Jellorrum Harrison, Schoolmaster.
2. Canoffee, on the Rio Pongas
   - Rev. Frederick Wenzel.
   - Mrs. Wenzel.
3. Yongroo, on the Bullom Shore
   - Rev. Gustavus Reinhold Nylander.
   - Mrs. Nylander.
   - Rev. John Christopher Sperrhacken.
   - Mrs. Sperrhacken.
4. Gambier
   - Rev. Jonathan Solomon Klein.
   - Mrs. Klein.
5. Sierra Leone—Now forming.

In these Settlements about 200 Native Children, many of them the sons of the neighbouring Chiefs, are constantly under Christian Instruction: most of them are wholly maintained by the Society. Churches are erected at Bashia and at Canoffee. The New Testament is in the course of translation into the Susoo and Bullom languages; and Elementary Books have been printed in those tongues to teach the Natives to read.

The Society's Missionaries have supplied, for several years, the place of Chaplain to the Colony of Sierra Leone. A great number of Native Children have, in that Colony, received instruction from them. The Rev. Leopold Butscher is now Chaplain of the Colony, which is become a place of great importance; containing about 10,000 Inhabitants, of which not much less than 1000 are Native Children of different African Tribes, liberated from Smuggling Vessels. A large grant of land has been made to the Society, on which it is about to erect buildings for the reception and education of all these destitute children, who will be instructed in agriculture and other useful occupations. The Society clothes, maintains, and educates a poor African Child for £.5 per annum; and affixes any name to such poor liberated child which the benefactor may wish. Directions have been already given by benevolent persons for the selection of nearly 100 such children.

Government have granted their ready support to the Society's efforts in Africa. They have agreed, on its Memorial, in conjunction with one of Governor Maxwell's, to erect a substantial and commodious Church in the Colony; and will place the liberated children under the Society's care.

A regular intercourse is about to be established with the Society's Settlements in Western Africa, by a Ship, named after Africa's distinguished friend—the "WILLIAM WILBERFORCE." See the next page.

NEW ZEALAND.

Lay Settlers.—William Hall and his wife.
John King and his wife.
Thomas Kendall with his wife and family.

The sum of £.500 per annum has been appropriated, under the direction of the Rev. Samuel Marsden, and an Auxiliary Society to be formed in New South Wales, to the promotion of Christianity, principally in New Zealand, there being the most encouraging prospects of success among that noble race, and of suitable instructors from the Colony.

The brig Active, of 110 tons, has been purchased by Mr. Marsden for the promotion of the Society's objects. Several New Zealand Chiefs have been fetched in her, by Mr. Kendall and Mr. Hall, to New South Wales; with whom, after they had acquired the various instruction which the Colony would afford them, Mr. Marsden was to return, on a visit to New Zealand, accompanied by all the settlers.

ANTIGUA.

As a Catechist and Correspondent of the Society,
Mr. William Dawes.

MALTA AND THE LEVANT.

Dr. Cleardo Naudi is the Society's Correspondent at Malta.

A young Maltese is come over to this Country, for education, to act under the Society.

The Rev. William Jowett, M. A. Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, will proceed to Malta, in a short time, in order to act as the Representative of the Society, and to promote its objects in the Mediterranean and Levant.

Two young Arabians, sent at the charge of the Bishop of Nicotia, in Cyprus, will be taken under Mr. Jowett's care, for instruction as Missionaries.

Nine English Students are preparing for Holy Orders.

Four German Students are under education in the Berlin Seminary.

Two Lutheran Clergymen are preparing in London for Africa and India.

Three Schoolmasters and Two Schoolmistresses are in a course of instruction for Africa.

THE SCRIPTURE, LITURGY, AND TRACTS, IN MAHOMETAN AND HEATHEN LANGUAGES.

The Old Testament is translating into Persian, to accompany the admirable translation of the New Testament, by the late Rev. Henry Martyn, into that language. The New Testament is proceeding in Susoo and in Bullom, two African tongues. The Liturgy of the Church is in preparation in Persian, Arabic, and Hindoostanee; and, in these and various other languages of Mahometans and Heathens, measures are taking to print and circulate widely Scriptural and Religious Tracts.

GROTIUS on the Truth of Christianity, in Arabic, abridged from Pococke's Version by Professor Macbride, and printed at the Clarendon Press, 8vo. price 2*s.*

OSTERVALD on Christianity, in Arabic, 8vo. price 2*s.*

MISSIONARY SHIP FUND.

The Magnitude of the Society's undertakings in Western Africa, and the difficulties to which its Settlements have been exposed for want of a regular intercourse with this country, have led some zealous friends to open a Separate Fund for the establishment and maintenance of such intercourse by a Ship, to be named the "WILLIAM WILBERFORCE." The Society is not to engage in trade, nor to incur any risk of uncertain expenditure. Arrangements are making to secure to it the important objects of a regular, commodious, and unexceptionable intercourse with its Missionaries in Africa, at an expence that shall be known and agreed on. The comfort and encouragement of the Missionaries—the economical arrangement of supplies—a more perfect knowledge of the actual state of the Mission; its wants, its difficulties, and its success—occasional visitation—the prevention of improper society to Missionaries on their voyages—and many other advantages will result from this plan, if the public liberality shall furnish a sum adequate to its execution. About £.2000 has been already contributed by persons of various classes, from very small sums up to £.100 each. The Names of the Contributors will be printed.

 All Contributions to the Missionary Ship Fund, or to the General Fund of the Society, may be sent to the Secretary, the Rev. Josiah Pratt, at the Church Missionary House, Salisbury Square, Fleet Street, London, where attendance is given daily, from Nine o'clock till Seven, and where every information and assistance may be obtained in the establishment of Associations.

A

1 JOHN v. 11, 12.

AND THIS IS THE RECORD, THAT GOD HATH GIVEN TO US ETERNAL LIFE, AND THIS LIFE IS IN HIS SON. HE, THAT HATH THE SON, HATH LIFE; AND HE, THAT HATH NOT THE SON OF GOD, HATH NOT LIFE.

In a world the very elements of which are uncertainty, apprehension, surprise, and perturbation, what cause of thankfulness is it, that we have a rock, from which to take our survey; a throne, which cannot be cast down, to receive our supplications; and a Prince, whose name is wisdom, whose hand is irresistible, and whose mind changes not, to send forth and to execute the decree! We seem to be learning the value of these possessions daily, by lessons more audible and more affecting than those which our Fathers have taught us; as though God would compel us for our very peace and comfort's sake, to turn our view from man to man's Maker and Governor; from the things which are seen, to the things which are not seen. We have a trackless, fathomless, tempestuous deep at our feet, but the Sun still holds his place in the firmament. The Lord is King, be the people never so impatient: He sitteth between the Cherubims, be the earth never so unquiet. The Lord is King: the earth may be glad thereof: yea the multitude of the isles may be glad thereof. Clouds and darkness are round about him: righteousness and judgment are the habitation of his seat.

Are not your eyes and your hearts fixed here, my Christian Brethren, in this day of revolution and wonder? of wonder, I say, for however congenial it may be with our pride, not to allow that we have been disappointed, there are few of us, surely, who did not yield to the illusions of hope, whilst dressing out to ourselves the image of universal and permanent tranquillity; and who were not afraid, nay almost ashamed, to whisper the ominous apprehension, "It is but for a year!"

Then, in this day of wonders, are you not exemplifying the spirit of your profession, in waiting patiently upon the Lord for all events, under the heart-affecting assurance that He bringeth them to pass after the counsel of his own will, for his own present and everlasting glory, for the consummation of the Redeemer's kingdom, and for good to them that love Him? Are you not presignifying your approbation of his mysterious—it may be laborious and most painful dispensations—by sentiments and expressions such as these? "Let be"—"It is the Lord! let Him do what seemeth him good."—"He doeth all things well." Are you not standing upon your watch, and setting you upon your tower, though you wear not a prophet's garment, to see what the Lord will say unto you, and to mark the first breakings of that promised dawn, which you "understand by books," to be fast approaching?

The solemnity in which we are now engaged will assist us to form and to confirm this just frame of mind. We are all here before God, to implore his blessing upon exertions, which, through his grace, have been already made; and upon still more enlarged efforts, which we trust He will put it into our hearts to make, in behalf of the poor perishing heathen—those of Africa and the East in particular—that they may receive the words of eternal life as well as we.

Now this is a cause which sets God before us: for who, but He, is its origin, its life, its end?—a cause which compels us to look at Him, as the Almighty Universal Worker; who has a plan to which he is even now setting his hand, possibly for the last time; and, in the furtherance of which, all events shall terminate—a cause, therefore, which draws us off from earth, and sense, and time; from man's contentions and man's boast-ings; from human leagues and human perfidies; to think of higher, purer, and more stable interests—a cause, which, whilst it seeks to engage us by the most exalted and disinterested motives, by zeal for a Saviour God and compassion for a benighted world, has a kind of reflex action upon our own personal advantage, obliging us to inquire what that salvation is to ourselves, which we would convey beyond seas to others; and thus leading us to that spiritual mind which we would form in heathens, to that heaven which we would open to strangers!—A cause, therefore, which varies not as to its importance and obligations with the varying state of nations and empires, but must be pleaded, whether an usurper fill the throne, or its rightful heir; in the day of battle, as well as in the hours of repose; amidst the pains and terrors of renewed bloodshed, no less than under the acclamations of victory!

Our Society has already yielded a noble example of the identity of spirit which this cause is calculated to infuse into its supporters, under dissimilar circumstances. It was brought to the birth in war; it stretched forth its infant arms in a short interval of peace; its childhood was fostered amidst the privations, tumults, and repinings of our late protracted and sanguinary conflict; and it has seemed hastily to be coming to manhood amidst the hopes and smiles of long-coveted tranquillity: but we venture to predict that it shall not lose a particle of its vigorous exertion, if the clarion of war shall again be sounded, and tears and sighs take the place of national rejoicings!

In recommending this cause, which has already been so abundantly, so skilfully, and so efficaciously pleaded by many honoured predecessors, to your continued and increased favour, I shall confine myself to a narrower space than has hitherto been trodden; and shall be satisfied with endeavouring chiefly to remind you of the great first principle on which your exertions are demanded. "The Heathen are perishing for lack of knowledge. If you would have the Heathen saved, you must preach the gospel to them." The text will furnish us with a doctrine of which our essential and fundamental principle is, if I mistake not, a just application.

St. John appears to have proposed three great objects to himself in writing this Epistle. He would shew the nature of real Christianity: it is a fellowship with God in his Three Persons, or with the absolute God and the God-man, evinced by a holy walk and conversation. He would manifest the person of Christ: he is God come in the flesh. He would inculcate the great duty of brotherly love: We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He, that loveth not his brother, abideth in death.

In this chapter, having already said much about the birth of God in the soul, he seems anxious to provide every doubting inquirer with an answer to the question, "Am I born of God?" If you are, you believe that Jesus is the Christ; that the person whom I have been describing to you is the long-promised and long-expected Saviour of the World: and you love, not your Father only, but your brethren also. Every one, that loveth him that begat, loveth him also that is begotten of him. There is an inseparable connection between the love of God, and the love of God's children. For what is the love of God IN EXERCISE, but the keeping of his commandments; of which the love of man forms a distinguished part? These commandments are made easy by that principle of faith which we receive in regeneration; a principle which enables us to overcome the world, that great enemy to spiritual obedience. In that principle of faith, applied to the Son of God as its object, there is a victorious power: for that principle so applied exhibits the stream, and enables us to drink of the stream, which flows from the Redeemer's pierced side. It apprehends a healing blood and a cleansing water. That blood and that water were witnesses of Christ, that he is the Son of God; in concurrence with which, a third—the chief witness—has borne and still continues to bear its testimony. If we are no longer permitted to speak of the heavenly witnesses;—and yet I

I confess the language as well as the whole connection of the passage, notwithstanding all the "pride, pomp, and circumstance" of an over-subtle criticism, seems to force the mention of them—(οἱ μαρτυροῦντες—why οἱ μαρτυροῦντες—why not τα μαρτυροῦντα—all the nouns being neuter, if the intermediate words are to be ejected)—our earthly witnesses shall be sufficient. The Spirit in the works and in the words; in the doctrine, miracles, conduct, and character of Christ and of his apostles, shall certify us that the Son of Mary is also the Son of God.

Why am I bound to receive this as a truth? because it comes to me, as every fact which my eyes do not behold, my ears hear, or my hands handle, must come to my conviction—by testimony. Whose testimony?—the testimony of God. Now if I receive the witness of men, how much more the witness of God! God has given testimony to his Son by these earthly witnesses. The man who believes in Christ hath the witness in himself—receives God's testimony: the man who believes not in Christ, believes not God, but makes God a liar—declares, in effect, that God is not worthy of credit—because he refuses to receive the record which God has given concerning his Son. And what is this record? What is the substance of that testimony, which, as the testimony of God, we are thus bound, in all reverence and in all wisdom, by honour, by conscience, by interest, to admit, welcome, and obey? And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.

God, who is rich in mercy, of his great love wherewith he loved us, hath given to us eternal life. We are by nature children and heirs of wrath. We have inherited and have merited a curse; the curse of God's anger and hatred, the curse of hell-fire. But God hath prepared for us a city, a kingdom, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens: such things as eye hath not seen, neither ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man; glory, honour, and peace; an inheritance incorruptible, undefiled, and that fadeth not away; a state of being so glorious and so happy as fitly to be called "life," which shall never have an end. This unspeakable, unsearchable possession hath God given to us; gratuitously bestowed. Not regarding the general character of the community, nor the personal character of any individuals of the community; the collective works of the whole mass, or the distinct performances of any portion of that mass—either in the conception, or in the execution, or in the appropriation, or in the consummation of his plan—he confers this his inestimable gift spontaneously, as a sovereign who claims to himself the right of doing what he will with his own. By grace are ye saved.—I give unto them eternal life.—The gift of God is eternal life.—Grace reigns through righteous- ness unto eternal life, by Jesus Christ our Lord. —If the inheritance be of the law, it is no more of promise: but God gave it to Abraham by promise. —God hath given TO US eternal life. Who are the US here spoken of? We cannot read the names, but the style is added. They are they who have, and they who shall have, the Son: not the unbelieving, unsanctified, disobedient world, which he, in an after verse, describes as lying in wickedness, or in the wicked one: but those who are of God, made like to Him as children, before they possess his property as heirs.

And this life is in his Son: hidden, laid up, buried, sealed in Christ the God-man, as treasure in a field, in a mine, in a bag or casket: in Him, as waters are in the ocean or in the fountain; in Him, as light and heat are in the sun. In Him was life, and the life was the light of men.—As the Father hath life in himself, even so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself.—I am the resurrection and the life.—I am the way, the truth, and the life.—The life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and shew unto you that eternal life which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us.—IN HIM are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.—It pleased the Father that IN HIM should all fulness dwell.—Who of God is made unto us, wisdom, righteousness, sanctification, and redemption.

Now if this be the constitution of God; if He "of whom are all things, and by whom are all things," hath seen fit to make this disposal of his property—will give eternal life, but will limit the order and manner of his gift—it shall be treasured up as in a reservoir—it shall be had abundantly, but shall be had in Him whom he hath appointed heir of all things:—we scarce need an Apostle's witness to convince us, that He, that hath the Son, hath life; and that He, that hath not the Son of God, hath not life. He, who hath this field, this mine, this bag, this casket, this fountain, this ocean, this sun, hath life. In having the Son, he hath all which is in the Son; life, and all things.

Who then can be said to have this incomprehensible being? Has he not told us, that no man knoweth the Son, save the Father? Is He not that eternal incomprehensible Word, which was in the beginning, and was with God, and was God? What finite being then—much more what man that is a worm—can be capable of having—of holding—of containing this immensity? Yet, mysterious as the fact is, this eternal, immeasurable word, is possessed by all, and by each one of his believing people. By believing in his name, they receive him; they welcome him, they entertain him, as the host receives, welcomes, and entertains his guest. Christ dwells in their hearts by faith. He comes to them, and makes his abode with them.

He dwells in them, and walks in them. They eat his flesh and drink his blood; and thus he becomes part of their substance. They are one with Him, and He with them. They are their beloved's, and their beloved is theirs.

Thus having the Son, they have life—that, which alone is worthy of the name of life, even life eternal—true happiness and true glory, unceasing in duration as exquisite in kind. This they have in Him. It is not said, "shall have," but hath; "hath life." He hath already the title to heaven—"a bright reversion in the skies." He hath already, for the most part, a lively sense of that title—a good hope or assurance through grace of his reversionary inheritance.—Nay, but he hath also heaven begun. For what is eternal life, but the spiritual life perfected? What is glory, but grace consummated? What is the kingdom of God above, but the righteousness, peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost, of which the foretaste has been given and received here below, completed in all its parts, pervading the whole man, heightened, refined, abounding, abiding, indissoluble, eternal! Verily, verily, I say unto you, He, that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life; and shall not come into condemnation, but is passed from death unto life.—Verily, verily, I say unto you, He, that believeth on me, hath everlasting life—He, that believeth on the Son, hath everlasting life.

And he, that hath not the Son of God, hath not life. Since God has been pleased to deposit this treasure of life in one solitary vessel—there it lies, and shall never be severed thence—he that hath no interest or propriety in this vessel, hath no interest in its treasure. The precious bark plies the waves, rides gallantly over the billows, and enters the haven in triumph: but he that has no share in the vessel, has no claim to the merchandize. Until this Son of God be in some sense ours; our possession; a part of our substance; within us; we have no enjoyment of his salvation, and no title to it.

The Apostle adds, These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God: or, as it appears to be more correctly read in a later edition of the original, These things have I written, that ye, who believe on the Son of God, may know that ye have everlasting life. My purpose, in writing this epistle, is, especially to show you the sure foundation of your hope—yea, the inestimable value of your present possessions—as believers in Christ Jesus. Already you have received, even now you possess, the gift of eternal life.

Before I state the proposition, which the words thus explained seem abundantly to authorize, shall I be deemed intrusive, if I strongly urge upon your meditation and most diligent search, the interesting inquiries, which they seem, almost without a voice, to commend to every man's conscience? My Christian Brethren, let us take heed, lest the poor Hindoo have a good reply against some of us—"Physician, heal thyself! Let the balm, which thou sendest to us, first heal thine own wounds!" We must remember, that, whilst it is a plain and solemn duty to evangelize the Heathen, we have all a prior duty to perform. Each man must first evangelize his own soul.—Have we then this Son of God?—How know we that we have him?—He, that hath this hope in him, purifieth himself even as He is pure.—If we say that we have fellowship with Him and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth.—Little children, let no man deceive you: he, that doeth righteousness, is righteous, even as He is righteous.

Without pursuing the consideration of the text any farther, I draw from it this general doctrine, that THE RECEPTION OF CHRIST IS ESSENTIAL TO SALVATION.

If eternal life be the free gift of God; if he has determined that this free gift shall flow in an appointed channel; if the sole medium of communication be Christ; whom to have is to have life, and not to have is to be without life; the conclusion seems strictly legitimate, that the knowledge of Christ is necessary to everlasting salvation—that knowledge which affects the heart—that knowledge, of which the Apostle speaks, when he says, Yea, doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord. I would with great seriousness then, with much tenderness, and with all humility of mind, propose this question for our present investigation. Is this proposition or conclusion applicable to the Heathen of our times? Must it be affirmed of them, as well as of us, He, that hath not the Son of God, hath not life?

It is too obvious to need any remark, that this is nearly the foundation-stone of all Missionary exertions. Are we not sending them a rod that they may be beaten with more stripes; if we, on the one hand, increase their responsibilities, whilst they, on the other, possess the means of eternal life without us? But if of the Heathen also, as well as of ourselves, it must be affirmed, He, that hath not the Son of God, hath not life—who shall hesitate to send the swift messengers? who shall refuse to do all he can towards compelling the beautiful feet to move?

I remark then, first of all, that, on the broad face of the declaration, it is applicable. There is no limitation, no exclusion, no exception in the words. Life is in the Son. He, who hath Him, hath life: he, who hath not Him, hath not life. The universality of application which the words seem to demand, is confirmed by the very nature of the constitution proclaimed. It is not a pilgrimage to Mecca, a repetition of so many Ave-Marias, a mark in the flesh, an anointing with oil: things merely positive and arbitrary, which may be performed without efficacy, and omitted without loss: but a moral influence is to be engendered; a principle is to be imparted; spirit, life is to be conveyed, enjoyed, infixed, manifested. The presumption, therefore, is, that the appointment affects all men; is a law for the Jew and for the Greek; for the Heathen man, as well as for the evangelized.

I ask then, secondly, since the fair and obvious construction of this passage, in connection with its context, implies universality; is there any testimony of Scripture, which either expressly or by satisfactory inference, takes out the Heathen from the general mass, and places their salvation and destruction on a foundation distinct from ours?

Will you draw a testimony from that general principle recognised by our Lord: That servant, which knew his Lord's will and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes: but he, that knew not, and did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. Luke xii. 47, 48. Can it be said of the Heathen, that they knew not? Has God ever left himself without witness? does he ever so leave himself? Then, here are stripes, though few stripes, Hell has its lower deeps, but the nearer to the surface are Hell still. It shall be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah: but shall it be tolerable even to these?

Then Peter opened his mouth and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons; but, in every nation, he that feareth him and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him. Acts x. 34, 35. Can the Heathen be said, as a community, in any numbers, to fear God and work righteousness? And yet if they do thus, it appears from the occasion which draws forth this remark, that they must even then be taught the great truths of the kingdom. Cornelius was instructed to send for Peter, and Peter was instructed to go and preach to him. To him, that ordereth his conversation right, I will shew the salvation of God.

When the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law unto themselves: which shew the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts, the meanwhile, accusing or else excusing one another. Rom. ii. 14, 15. The Apostle is maintaining that God's judgment in the Great Day will be according to truth. It will be impartial. It will be formed simply from a regard to character and conduct, not to origin and privilege. He will not punish a Heathen, because he is a Heathen; nor will he spare a Jew, because he is a Jew. The doers only of the law, not the mere hearers, shall be justified: and if any Gentiles shall be found to answer this description—doers of the law—that is, acting according to its regulations, they shall be dealt with as righteous persons. The expressions are explanatory of a hypothetical, or of a supposed, or of an ascertained and acknowleged fact; that, in some solitary instances, Gentiles might be found who exhibited a conformity to the substance of the law, in some or many of its requirements. These persons, the Apostle says, may be considered as having the law; as possessing that which is the great privilege and boast of the Jews. It shall be no disparagement to them that they have not the written ordinance. In fact they have it in their hearts. How this comes to pass it is not to his purpose here to explain. And which of us will be disposed to refuse like privileges to a Heathen, of like character and attainments, in our own times? If he, without the light of revelation, be found to receive and obey the truth of the Gospel, according to its rough outline, we will freely grant to him the privileges of the Gospel: he shall have the Son, and in Him life. But where have these been found? Where are they to be found? And, as to the main point in question, we have in this passage an explicit testimony to the universality of the proposition.—For, as many as have sinned without law, shall be judged without law—shall be judged as those who have not enjoyed that advantage, but judged still: and as many as have sinned in the law, shall be judged by the law; their abused advantages shall aggravate their condemnation.

For until the law, sin was in the world, but sin is not imputed, when there is no law. Rom. v. 13. The Apostle evidently does not mean that sin was not imputed by God to man; but not imputed by man to himself. Else why did death reign from Adam to Moses, even over them that had not sinned after the similitude of Adam's transgression? But by the law is the knowledge of sin.—It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made.—The law was our school-master to bring us unto Christ. Where there is no written ordinance by which a man may try and examine himself, he takes no account of his sin. When the law came, sin was ascertained.

Who art thou that judgest another man's servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth: yea he shall be holden up, for God is able to make him stand. But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ. Rom. xiv. 4. 10. If these passages were justly applicable to the Heathen, they would bear strongly upon our question. But they are so manifestly appropriated to Christian Brethren; weak, it may be, in the faith; but in whom the Spirit of Christ was supposed to dwell; that they cannot be introduced into an argument which confines itself to "the armies of the aliens." The Apostle's complaint is clearly against Christians wanting charity towards their weaker fellow christians.

And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commandeth all men every where to repent. Acts xvii. 30. What! is it to be inferred from these expressions, that God connived at the sins of ancient idolaters, so that He will not punish them? Is this the way in which the Judge of all the earth is to do right? Is it for this, that those in the graves which have done evil, are to come forth—that they may shew how God, who is of purer eyes than to behold evil, can look on iniquity? God forbid! He did not formerly interpose, by an express revelation, as he has subsequently done: he overlooked—that is, did not by express mandate rebuke and dispel that season of gross darkness. But it will be seen that he has taken an account of it and remembers it, on that day in which he shall judge the world in righteousness, by that man whom he hath ordained.

Other testimonies which might seem to favour a like conclusion, would be found upon investigation to demand a like answer. On the other hand, the inclusion of the Heathen in the general mass of condemned unbelievers may be strongly argued from direct and positive proofs.

How are they mentioned in Scripture? With what epithets and adjuncts is their name generally accompanied? The Heathen, which know not God! —Gentiles!—Gentiles in the flesh!—The abominations of the Heathen!—The filthiness of the Heathen! —Do worse than the Heathen!—Ye know that ye were Gentiles, carried away unto these dumb idols, even as ye were led.—Not a people.—The time past of your lives may suffice to have wrought the will of the Gentiles!—A Heathen-man and a Publican!—Come out from among them, and be ye separate.—Having your conversation honest amongst the Gentiles—that is, amongst the spies and enemies of God's people!—It is given unto the Gentiles, and the holy city shall they tread under foot forty and two months.

If this be their style and their character in brief, what is their more ample and full-length portrait?—How readest thou? thou readest of them such things, as can scarcely, in the wildest judgment of charity, be imagined to accompany salvation.

When they knew God—or might have known him, wilful ignorance forming no excuse for disobedince—they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools: and changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds and four-footed beasts, and creeping things. Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness, through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves. Who changed the truth of God into a lie—for that they had changed the true God into a false one—and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen. For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections.—God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenant-breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful; who, knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them. Rom. i. 21. 32. Know ye not, that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind; nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God. And such were some of you—rather, of such character were you—not partitively spoken, as though some were and some were not; but indefinitely, ταῦτά τινες ἦτε. 1 Cor. vi. 9, 10, 11. The things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils and not to God, and thereby have fellowship, as the Apostle argues, with devils. 1 Cor. x. 20. Having no hope, and without God in the world. Ephes. ii. 12. Walking in the vanity of their mind; having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness, or hardness, of their heart: who being past feeling have given themselves over to lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness. Ephes. iv. 17—19.

Is the character of the modern Pagans then, less vile than that of the ancient? Are not the broad features of man's unenlightened nature the same in all countries and periods, though some fainter interior lines of the countenance may vary? British Hindostan shall furnish us with idolatries, as manifold and as gross, as ridiculous, as licentious, as bloody, and as rapacious, as Babylon and Rome. Is the Moloch of Orissa less fierce than Mars or Belus? Are fornication and unnatural crimes less constant in their attendance upon the idol-mysteries of the Ganges, than upon those of Moab and Ammon? If the deities of the ancient Heathen were, in one view, mere wood and stone; in another, heroes of very moderate virtue, or rather most flagitious in crime; in another, Satan and his angels; Africa shall shew us temples which ancient Heathens dared not rear, which have the very name of the Evil Spirit named upon them, inscribed on their walls, and invoked in their worship.

It is not necessary to the condemnation of the Heathen, that their vices should reach to the top-stave of the climax in that awful progression of ascent which the Apostle marks out. It is not necessary that they should be chargeable with unnatural crimes—should be implacable, unmerciful—should have pleasure in them that commit things worthy of death, or be to every good work reprobate. Even the lowest link in this mystical chain of evil is sufficiently pollutive. But can you name a vice, can you single out an abomination in the whole catalogue of profaneness, impurity, and immorality, of which an exemplification is not to be found in the South and East to which your missions are directed? Then shall it be said of these, that they are not in the flesh? yet if they be in the flesh, they cannot please God.—Shall it be said of these, that the Spirit of Christ, is in them? yet, if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his—of these, that they are washed, that they are justified, that they are sanctified? yet of such only is the kingdom of God.

And under what circumstances is this character imputed and imputable to them? It is plain that they know not God: but is it not as plain, that they might know him? Now on these two principles the Apostle rests his condemnation of the whole world, and demonstrates the universal need and the triumphant joy of the Gospel. The Heathen of our times, like their predecessors in ignorance, are chargeable with holding the truth in unrighteousness, and therefore are without excuse. For the invisible things of Him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead. Yet they see them not. The wisest, the purest of the Grecian and Roman Sages saw them not—their Socrates, their Plato, their Aristotle, Cicero, their Seneca, saw them not—how much less the profane rabble, who thought of nothing but their bread and their games! Does the Brahmical priest, who commands his devotee to scourge himself—to measure his length for many tedious miles on the sands—to prostrate himself beneath the car of his disgusting Deity—does he know God?—Has the yelling multitude more knowledge?—They know not God! Yet who are they on whom vengeance is to fall? In the awful process of the Last Judgment, recorded by St. Matthew from our Lord's own mouth, we read but of two descriptions of character in the assembled world: those who shall have possessed a faith which wrought by love, and those who have not possessed it. In which of these descriptions will the Heathen multitudes range?—They know not God. But when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from Heaven with his mighty angels in flaming fire—on whom is He to take vengeance? ON THEM THAT KNOW NOT GOD.

My Christian Brethren, if the Heathen are condemned because they might know, and know not; what will be our condemnation, should we be found at last not to have known God? This is life eternal, to know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent. Must we not tremble for ourselves, and for many around us, lest they be characterized—lest we be characterized—by a name which involves a contradiction—Heathen-Christians!

I ask, in the third place, is any general principle, fact, prophecy, or precept of Scripture, contravened by this application of the text?

Is it contrary to the Scripture representations of God's Justice? What though he spare some? Is he therefore unjust in punishing any rebel? Must he spare all, if he spare one? Is it contrary to the Scripture representations of God's Mercy? That mercy is not ir-respective. It is not a single attribute in the divine mind, exercised without regard to others; but is made conducive to the display of his whole will and wisdom. Does it invalidate and diminish the efficacy of Christ's Sacrifice? As well might it be said, that this efficacy is impaired, if all be not brought to Heaven. There is virtue enough for all the Heathen in that blood; but to be efficacious it must be applied. Will you mention Prophecies and Promises made in behalf of the Heathen—that he shall be for salvation to the end of the earth? that they shall be given to Christ for an inheritance, a people for his praise? These promises, instead of opposing, prove the justness of the application: for why should it be matter of anticipated rejoicing that the fulness of the Gentiles shall at length come in, if they might have life without being brought in; if they were not at present under condemnation? Does it contradict that First and great Commandment of the law—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength? We believe that God shall be magnified—and we are willing that he should magnify himself, staggering as the confession is—in them that perish as well as in them that are saved? Does it contradict that Second Commandment, which is like unto the first—Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself? Love to our brother is not shewn by hiding our eyes from his deformity, and faintly wishing that he may be warmed, whilst we leave him in nakedness; but by acquainting him with his real state, and so proclaiming that we may amend it if it be evil.

On the other hand, certain plain and uncontroverted principles of the Scripture ARE contravened by opposing this application of our doctrine.

Without insisting on that just and, as I must be allowed to term it, holy and exalted representation which the Scriptures, in MY view, fully warrant, that the heirs of Redemption are at present a remnant—a remnant according to the election of grace—men chosen, and called, and faithful; on whom God has mercy because he will have mercy; of whose distinguished favour we can give no other account but this, Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in thy sight: I observe, in the way of short illustration of this concluding part of my argument,

First, that the Gospel is professedly an exclusive dispensation; declares itself to be the counsel of God, His one and only counsel, for the salvation of men: the ministry of reconciliation; the Gospel of the grace of God; his covenant of peace. There is not so much as a hint, that there remaineth any other plan, any other outlet of escape; any other positive dispensation of mercy, or peradventure method, whereby sinners may escape the vengeance of eternal fire. It is the revelation of the mystery, which has been kept secret from ages and from generations, and now manifested for obedience to the faith among all nations: that the Gentiles should be fellow-heirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel: that all men should see what is the fellowship of the mystery which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God.—To the intent, that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known by the church the manifold wisdom of God—that he should gather together in one the children of God, which are scattered abroad—that the offering up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the Holy Ghost.

I observe, secondly, that the Scriptures assign a peculiar and exclusive character to the saved. They are born of God—they are deeply humbled for sin—they believe on the name of the Lord Jesus Christ—the life which they live in the flesh they live by the faith of the Son of God—they put off the old man, and put on the new man—they are created after God in righteousness and true holiness—they are renewed in knowledge, after the image of Him that created them.

I observe, lastly, that the Scriptures assign a peculiar and exclusive method to the communication of this character and its privileges. Believers in Christ Jesus are born of water and of the Spirit: begotten by the word of truth—born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible—made clean by the word which Christ hath spoken to them—sanctified and cleansed with the washing of water by the word. God has appointed to give them his Holy Spirit, as the effective agent—a Spirit which may work with or without an instrument, but to which he has appropriated the preached, or read, or heard Gospel, as the efficacious instrument. For after that, in the wisdom of God, the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God, by the foolishness of preaching, to save them that believe.—In Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the Gospel.—If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

Let me be allowed to carry your meditations for a moment above this earth, and above the present militant and divided state of God's people. The family in heaven and earth, named of one, but now dwelling separately, is at length to be united into one household. There is one body and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism; one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all—there shall be one fold and one shepherd—there shall be one voice and one song: worthy is the Lamb that was slain.—Salvation to him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb!

What then! are these worshippers of Satan in Africa, and these multiform idolaters of India, to be suddenly transmuted after death into worshippers of the triune Jehovah, without having so much as heard his name here; without knowing that there is a Son and a Holy Ghost, or even that first principle of true religion, that God is One?—Yet if the Heathen, un-evangelized, be considered as objects of salvation, either this heterogeneous mixture must be made to unite, heterogeneous as it is; or God must miraculously impart the knowledge of his truth in its broad outline at least, to this vast and widely-separated multitude: miraculously, I say, because I suppose it will not be questioned that his usual method—what may be called the ordinance of God—an ordinance to which he graciously condescends to conform himself—is to dispense the Spirit in conjunction with his word.

I infer, then, that the doctrine of the text is justly applicable to the Heathen of our times. The natural presumption which this passage affords, is confirmed by the consideration, that as, on the one hand, no testimony of Scripture exempts the Heathen from its operation; so a strong body of positive testimony includes them under it: as no principle, or fact, or promise, or precept, is contravened by this application; so certain broad, and recognized, and indisputable principles are shaken by relinquishing it. Though we cannot presume to set limits to the grace and mercy of God, we are authorized by Scripture and by experience to conclude, that He usually condescends to observe an appointed method in the diffusion of his eternal mercies, which precludes the supposition that any considerable numbers of the unconverted Heathen are made partakers of them!

Awful truth! which should fill our hearts with pitying anguish!

Discriminating truth! which should endear to us a hundredfold, the love of God our Saviour in sending his Gospel to our shores!

Constraining truth! which should multiply and exaggerate our efforts to assail the kingdom of darkness with our armour of light!

Let us rejoice that there are so many different communities even in our own country, pursuing separate and combined efforts in this great work! Let us give to each our right-hand of fellowship—our good wishes, congratulations, and prayers! Let us see whether we cannot make our own labours more abundant and more successful; and let us be glad that there are others to occupy those fields of harvest, which we have neither hands nor strength to reap!

The Church Missionary Society had its origin in a desire to remove from Churchmen the reproach of comparative indifference to the cause of missions. It is a Gilgal to us—the hill on which the reproach of our uncircumcision is rolled away. Though we had two societies previously in existence within the pale of our Church-establishment, sending messengers to the Heathen, the operation of the one is confined to a narrow sphere, and the other pursues it only in conjunction with other objects, and as secondary to many such objects. Now it is the glory of our Society that it offers to Churchmen an unsuspicious medium of exertion in this cause; that it resolves the questions—Who shall be sent?—by whom?—and with what message?—in a manner appropriate to our doctrines and discipline; and, being simple not complex in its design, may pursue it to an indefinite extent of activity and usefulness.

Our main desire and expectation, doubtless, are to combine the energies of Churchmen in this sublime undertaking; but we cannot help cherishing an earnest persuasion, that Christians of other denominations, who may not already have cast their mite into their own specific treasury, and even some who have already inriched other stores, will wish well, and, according to their ability, do good to ours.

Our Society has proceeded with a step circumspect and firm; prudently, fervently, "with large aspect," fearing, hoping, acting. The diffusion of Religious Tracts, and other useful publications, in the native languages, was almost all we undertook at first; and still continues to engage us. Schools as laying the surest foundation of hope by casting in the good seed early, and as forming walls and bulwarks to the Society by obtaining confidence for the conductors of its plans; have been resorted to, with much of obvious advantage. Catechists, as best calculated to teach the elements to those who need elementary instruction; Missionaries of our own and of a sister communion; grammars, vocabularies, and other elementary works, and above all the sacred Scriptures, in the languages of the country addressed—together with a due admixture of mechanic and other Lay Settlers, as well as of Literary Representatives and Correspondents, at the various points of intercourse, who may enlarge the usefulness, and thus subsidiarily promote the primary and supreme object of the institution—these form the general outline of our exertions. Can means more prolific be devised? or can the resources of our Society be directed into a more promising channel, or diverted into more fertile streams?

Our tree has yielded its fruit. Africa already bears more than leaves. Ceylon is in the bud. Indostan is in the blossom. Perhaps our Society may be appointed to lead the van of that armament, which is to dim and to efface the pale crescent of Mahomet. What has Abdool Messee done? The honour put upon our venerated Liturgy; the progress of translations; the interchange of aid between ourselves and the British and Foreign Bible Society; enlarged means of imparting instructors, and enlarged areas in which they may administer instruction; an Ecclesiastical Establishment, or what may rather, as we hope, be termed the nascent increment of one like our own, in India;—these are so many achievements, and stores in prospect, on which we would rest the eye with thankfulness, and expand the heart with fervent expectation.

But here I must refer you to our Annual Report, which you are anticipating with wonted and more than wonted interest, from the peculiar circumstances of the last year: only using the occasion to remark, that our Society has been found indirectly useful, where its primary object was not the immediate object in view. It formed a rallying point for exertions in procuring a steady, zealous, and enlarged movement towards securing and confirming the Abolition of the Slave Trade; and it had no small share in producing the success of the stoutly-contested clause, which has given Christianity to India!

Once more, then, set before your view, comprehend with your whole soul, the true state of the Heathen. Without Christ—having no hope—our argument goes nigh to establish the conclusion—"THEY CANNOT BE SAVED." If the Scripture says, there is none other name under Heaven given amongst men whereby they must be saved; has not one of our Articles a word which, in principle if not in form and design, applies to the Heathen—"They be accursed, that presume to say that every man shall be saved by the law or sect which he professeth, so that he be diligent to frame his life according to that law, and the light of nature: for Holy Scripture doth set out unto us only the name of Jesus Christ, whereby man must be saved." Art. xviii.

Give, then, you alms to-day, under the awakened conviction, that thus only shall the Heathen come to God! Look at the world—it is not only a world which lieth in wickedness, but a world in convulsions; a world groaning and travailing in pain together, till all the kingdoms of the earth become the kingdoms of the Lord and of his Christ. The decree long since gone forth, seems now to be on the eve of its accomplishment! Jerusalem shall be built: the foundations of the Temple shall be laid.

Our favoured Island and its Dependencies have an exalted share in the vast enterprise. It is remarkable, that, whether a faithless and ambitious conqueror, or the meek successor of St. Louis, fill the throne, Britain, it seems, is to be the model of the new frame of things: our polity is to be their polity, so far as a dissimilar national character and state of things can bear it.—True religion, too, is on the increase here, and makes known her march by sounding her trumpet in many excellent institutions, by which her combined cause is to triumph. Her sons and her daughters die, and thus prove themselves to be no better than their fathers; but other sons and daughters rise up, and are baptized for the dead. We lose our Venn, to model; our Cecil, to paint; our Robinson, to enforce; our Buchanan, to explore; our Thornton—Son worthy of thy Father!—to counsel and support: but we have a veteran pioneer or two, still left to lead the way: we have still inventive genius to plan; we have stil laborious industry to prosecute: we have Nobles and Senators to plead; we have citizens to enrich, and soldiers to pray for us. What are all these, but so many encouragements to go on with our work, looking to ourselves that we lose not those things which we have wrought, but that we receive a full reward.

I beseech you, therefore, Brethren, by the mercies and by the judgments of God; by dawning hopes and by revived terrors; by the ashes of your dead friends, and by the spirit of the dead which breathes in the living; by the groans of perishing Heathens, and by the joys of heaven-born, laborious, consistent Christians; by the pains of hell, and by the glories of Heaven; come, lengthen the cords, and strengthen the stakes of your tent—come, bring the gold, the silver, and the stones, which are to form the gates, the walls, and the battlements of the last city to be built—come, enlarge the commission of your angel, and bid him fly with his Everlasting Gospel to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people—to preach unto all them that dwell on the earth, from the river to the sea, and from the flood to the world's end.

REPORT

OF THE

COMMITTEE,

DELIVERED TO THE

ANNUAL MEETING,

HELD MAY 2, 1815,

AT THE FREEMASONS' TAVERN, GREAT QUEEN STREET.

REPORT,

In reporting the Proceedings of the Fifteenth Year of the Institution, your Committee cannot but advert, with deep regret, to the disappointment of those anticipations which they seemed warranted in forming at the last Anniversary of the Society. The portentous gloom which seemed scattered by the Divine Hand is again gathering around. The threatening clouds are again darkening the heavens, and a dread night of horrors seems fast coming upon this fair portion of our world.

But we bow with submission to the Divine Will. Nor can we look on the coming evils without a high hope and expectation that they may be pregnant with ultimate good to man.

Nor can your Committee advert to the state of our own country, and its prospects, without exultation. The efforts of her Christians commend her daily, and if they are perpetuated and augmented as we doubt not but they will be, they will commend her effectually to the merciful protection of God: and, while she stands waiting to embrace every opportunity of Christian exertion which it may please God to open before her, she will not wait long. The hand which drives the nations together for chastisement and correction, will prepare the way of the Lord, and make straight in the desert a highway for our God. These judgments may serve as pioneers of the way. They may remove the obstacles which now oppose and limit our efforts. Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain: and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

The principal occurrences of the year having been already made known very extensively, as they have arisen, by the circulation of the Missionary Register, your Committee will enter less into detail than might otherwise be necessary. They refer the members of the Society, and all others who wish to obtain information on the progress of truth and righteousness in the earth, to the monthly numbers of that publication. The great extension, however, of the Society, during the last year, will unavoidably occupy considerable time in sketching but its outline.

The last Report stated the rapid augmentation of the resources and influence of the Society during its Fourteenth Year; and your Committee have now the pleasure of reporting that the Fifteenth Year has been still more productive.

The able and eloquent advocates of the Society and of the cause of Missions, on whom your Committee have called for assistance, have readily united their efforts to those of the Secretary, often under great inconvenience to themselves, in accepting invitations from various parts of the empire, to lay before others that information of which an intimate knowledge of the Society had put them into possession. The Rev. Basil Woodd, the Rev. William Goode, the Rev. Daniel Wilson, and the Rev. Edward Burn, have renewed their claims, in this respect, on the gratitude of the Society. The Hon. and very Rev. the Dean of Wells, the Rev. Thomas Biddulph, the Rev. Legh Richmond, the Rev. Henry John Maddock, the Rev. William Jowett, the Rev.

Isaac Saunders, the Rev. John William Cunningham, the Rev. William Marsh, the Hon. and Rev. Lyttleton Powys, the Rev. Thomas S. Grimshaw, the Rev. Hugh Pearson, and the Resident Clergy of various places, demand the sincere and grateful acknowledgments of the Society for their benevolent exertions.

Nor can your Committee refrain from expressing, in this place, their hearty thanks to one of the Vice-Presidents of the Society, Thomas Reade Kemp, Esq. for the distinguished liberality with which he relieved the Funds from all charge on account of a journey in the northern parts of the kingdom, by the Rev. Isaac Saunders, by which upward of £.400 was added to the resources of the Institution.

The County Associations of Norfolk and of Suffolk, under the able and distinguished direction of the Lord Bishop of Norwich, that of Leicestershire, and that of Bristol, have increased their claims on the gratitude of the Society. Bristol, in particular, with its Branch Association, must be mentioned with peculiar honour. Your Secretary and his friends, who are just returned from assisting at its Second Anniversay, report that upwards of Fifty Clergymen met them on that interesting occasion, and that more than £.800 was added to the Funds; and your Committee cannot but feel that they owe a debt of unfeigned acknowledgment to all these Clergymen, and more especially to their revered friend the Rev. Mr. Biddulph.

Your Committee will now trace the principal Associations formed during the year.

On the 1st of June an Association was formed at Hull, the Right Worshipful the Mayor in the Chair, for Hull and the East Riding of Yorkshire, Sir H. Etherington, Bart. President.

The Hibernian Auxiliary Society is the most important Association of the year. On the 10th of June the Secretary, with the Rev. Daniel Wilson and the Rev. W. Jowett, arrived in Dublin, on the invitation of some zealous friends in that quarter of the United Kingdom. They spent three Sundays in Ireland, and had an opportunity of inforcing from the pulpit, in several of the principal Parish Churches of Dublin, the important object of their visit. On the 22d of June, at a very numerous and respectable Meeting held at the Rotunda, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor in the Chair, it was resolved to establish the "Hibernian Church Missionary Society, Auxiliary to the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East," of which Lord Viscount Lorton accepted the office of Patron *. Dublin is the centre of the operations of this Institution, which is the only one in connection with the Church Missionary Society, which takes the name of an Auxiliary Society, because it is intended that it shall extend itself, as opportunities may offer, by Associations throughout Ireland: and it was judged likely that the members of the Church of Ireland would more readily unite themselves with an Auxiliary strictly national, than open a correspondence directly with the Parent Institution. The Hibernian Auxiliary is already strengthened by a Ladies' Dublin Association; under its patroness the Right Hon. Vicountess Lifford, one of the Society's most unwearied friends: and by the Armagh Association, formed by the assistance of the Rev. D. Wilson, under the Presidency of the Right Hon. the Earl of Gosford.

Your Committee will not enlarge further on the subject of this distinguished Society, as the Rev. Dr. Thorpe, of Dublin, who attends the Meeting of this day at the joint request of the Committees of the Parent and the Auxiliary, will lay before it some very interesting particulars †. But your Committee cannot but hail with gratitude to the great Head of the Church this accession to the Society's strength, by the formation of the Auxiliary in the Sister Island. It has commenced with the most favourable auspices, and it is proceeding with vigour. It contains the germ of much friendly and Christian intercourse between the Churches of the two countries in the promotion of the most noble of all objects, and it may be justly hoped that in the most distant ages, blessings will spring from this co-operation of the Churches of the United Kingdom.

* See Appendix I. for the Regulations, &c. of the Society.

† Dr. Thorpe, in a very impressive speech, assured the Meeting of the anxiety of his countrymen to assist the efforts of the Society. Beside the Association at Armagh, others had been added at Ballincollig, near Cork; at Carrick-on-Shannon, and at Lisburn: the Ladies' Dublin Association had been followed by similar Associations of Ladies at Mohill, at Killarmough, at Longford, at Ballyconnel, and at Kilkenny.

On the 1st of August, an Association was formed at Plymouth Dock, at which the Rev. Basil Woodd assisted on behalf of the Committee. Sir T. D. Acland, Bart. was nominated President.

On the 19th of October, at a large and respectable Meeting, the Right Hon. Lord Calthorpe in the Chair, an Association was established in Birmingham, for that town and its vicinity. The Hon. and very Rev. the Dean of Wells and the Rev. T. Biddulph had preached very impressive Sermons on the preceding Sunday; and the Secretary attended the Meeting on the part of the Committee. The Birmingham Church Missionary Association, situated at or near the junction of four counties, and in the centre of a very populous and liberal district, is likely to render important service, by diffusing among multitudes the knowledge of the Society's proceedings, and by combining and embodying their zeal in its support.

On the 20th of December, an Association was formed in the County Hall of Bedford, for the town and county, the Rev. James Webster, B. D. Rector of Meppershall, in the Chair. The Secretary introduced the business, and was followed with great ability by various Clergymen of the vicinity.

On the 20th of March, at a numerous Meeting, held in the Parish Church of St. James's, Clerkenwell, the Rev. Thomas Sheppard, M. A. the Minister of the parish in the Chair, an Association was established for that populous quarter.

On the 13th of April, the Manchester and Salford Association was formed in the Exchange Dining Room, at which the Secretary with the Rev. Messrs. Burn, Wilson, and Jowett, attended, with the Rev. W. Thistlethwaite from Bolton, and many other Clergymen. Under various circumstances of an unfavourable nature, such were the zeal and liberality of the Society's friends, that the collections and contributions will amount, it is expected, to one thousand pounds.

On the 17th of April, the Secretary, with the Rev. Messrs. Wilson and Jowett, after preaching very successfully on the preceding day in various Churches in Staffordshire, proceeded to Derby, and assisted at the formation of an Association for that town and county.

Associations have also been established at York, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Lancaster, and in other places. Former Associations have augmented their exertions. The number of parochial, congregational, and friendly Associations has been continually on the increase. The congregations of the metropolis connected with the Society, have liberally exerted themselves. Sermons have been preached with much acceptance in Cornwall, in Devonshire, in various northern counties, and in Staffordshire. Many ladies have exerted themselves with the most beneficial effect: to two ladies the Society is indebted for the creation of a considerable interest in its favour in the county towns in which they respectively reside.

That the Society may see, at one view, the extent of that support which has been afforded to the funds by the various kinds of Associations, your Committee will enumerate such of them as have contributed the sum of £.20, or upward, since their formation, with the month and year in which they were formed, or in which their contributions began.

But it is not merely in the augmentation of the Society's Funds that your Committee rejoice in surveying these various Associations. These Funds are, manifestly, not the result of a temporary impulse on the feelings: they are the indications of an enlightened conviction of the duty of all Christians to contribute their utmost to this work of mercy—they are the evidences of a growing sense of gratitude to the Saviour, and of tender commiseration with fallen and perishing man.

Your Committee appeal, in proof of this, to the Annual Reports circulated by the different bodies associated in aid of the Society. They have themselves ventured to incur a very considerable expence in the diffusion of Missionary Information; as they knew that effectual and permament support could be expected, only from persons well informed respecting the actual state of the Heathen—the nature and the success of the efforts making for their conversion—and the absolute duty of Christians to support those exertions. It is on this principle that your Committee have offered, and will continue to offer, copies of the Society's Reports and of the Missionary Register to all its Collectors. These, and similiar publications, both awaken and maintain Christian Benevolence.

And the Committee see with pleasure their efforts crowned with success. The local Reports appeal in a very forcible manner to the consciences and hearts of their innumerable readers.

Your Committee advert again, with much satisfaction, to a topic which was brought forward in the last Report—the benign effect on the Labouring Orders and on the Young, of that share in works of Benevolence and Christian Charity which they are now first called on to bear.

The great mass of the people will be the most effectual and unfailing support of the efforts of Charity. While the weekly penny contributed by a third only of our population to the diffusion of the Scriptures and the civilization and conversion of the World, would yield to those grandest of all objects which can occupy the mind of dying man, much more than a million a year; every Society, which has these objects in view, and with wisdom and energy pursues its ends, may go forward with confident reliance on God. Religion is diffusing itself among the Labouring Orders. They give as readily of their earnings as their masters give of their gains, or the higher classes of their incomes. They feel as strongly as others, that grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, which urged the Churches of Macedonia to liberality, even in the midst of deep poverty, and to a willingness even beyond their power.

Your Secretary and his friends have every where witnessed this disposition.

To this system the Society is greatly indebted. The number of persons employed in collecting the weekly contributions of their associates or neighbours is very large, and is continually increasing. Many thousand pounds have been added to the funds, by this means, during the last year. The Committee invite others to offer themselves to this service. On application to the Secretary at the House of the Society, all needful information may be obtained.

This system is founded in wisdom, and has the benefit of both authority and example. Upon the first day of the week, said the Great Missionary of the Gentiles to his Corinthian Converts, let every one of you lay by him in store, as God has prospered him. And, though clothed with a sacred character, in order to cut off occasion of calumny from those who sought it, he could make to the Elders of the Ephesian Church this affecting appeal: (Acts xx. 34, 35:) Yea, you yourselves know, that these hands have ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me. I have shewed you all things, how that, SO LABOURING, ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.

In remarking that the most effectual and permanent aid will be rendered to the funds of Charity by the great body of the Labouring Orders, your Committee would not, in any degree, depreciate the assistance of those who are able to give of their abundance. They have, indeed, to report such acts of munificence by individuals during the last year, that it would be most ungrateful, both to the benefactors themselves and to Him who bestowed this grace upon them, not to express their high esteem of such deeds of charity. From an Anonymous Lady they have received two Donations of £.400 each; and, but a few days since, there were paid to your Secretary, in the House of the Society, by a respectable but plain countryman and his sister, Benefactions amounting to £.300. On his expressing his surprise at the extent of their bounty, it was replied, "God, Sir, has put it into our power, and he has also given us the will!"

On surveying the Funds devoted to the objects which occupy this Society and similiar Institutions, who can avoid exclaiming, "What a pittance has yet been contributed towards the conversion of the world!" We are accustomed to expenditure on a large scale for the purposes of national security: we see, with exultation, our gallant vessels riding the ocean; and we tax ourselves willingly for their maintenance: but we are ready to account our country a munificent country because she expends annually, as has been estimated, about as much in the propagation of Christianity in the world, as would defray the yearly maintenance of one Ship of the Line!

But the duty and blessing of Christian exertion begin to be more justly estimated.

Your Committee close their remarks on the Society's resources, by reminding the Meeting, that its average annual income, for 12 years, was £.2,000; that its 13th year yielded £.3,000; that its 14th sprung up to £.11,000: and they now report, with unfeigned thankfulness to God, that its 15th year amounts to £.16,000.

Your Committee will now advert to the increased EXERTIONS of the Society.

They have detailed the rapid augmentation of its Funds, and they have now the happiness to report that the opportunities for exertion have kept pace with the increase of the resources: and your Committee derive great encouragement from this fact, remembering that when the Tabernacle was to be reared, it pleased God to put it into the hearts of his people to give willingly of their substance.

On this ground your Committee can unfeignedly congratulate the friends of the Society. Its extending funds are not contracting rust in their hands. The expenditure of the last year has been about £.10,000; and the consequent increase of the Society's Stock about £.6,000. But this expenditure of £.10,000 has laid the foundation of a greatly augmented expenditure in future years. And it must be considered that, in institutions like ours, we cannot, as in the Bible Society, arrest the motion of our machine. We are solemnly pledged to every faithful Missionary, that his widow and his fatherless children, if he leave such behind him, shall find a husband and a father in you. And, in the common prudence of Christians, we are bound to remember that our liability to claims of this nature grows with the growth of the Society.

There are two great scenes of the Society's exertions, which are, in their very nature, and must long continue to be, a great drain on its funds. In Western Africa and in New Zealand, we are attempting at once to civilize and to evangelize.

In the endeavour to evangelize a nation wholly or partially civilized, our expence is better known and more definite; and it is comparatively small. But, where the first rudiments of letters are to be made known; where the language of the natives is first to be fixed, and then taught to themselves; where the very children who receive Christian instruction, must be fed and clothed at our hands; where even the simple arts of life must be made known or improved; where the servant of God not only can derive little toward his own support from all around him, but must maintain the character of a liberal benefactor —it is obvious that the expence of such efforts must be large, fluctuating, and indefinite.

But shall these forlorn Heathen be, therefore, abandoned? Shall injured Africa plead in vain? Shall that noble race of half a million of men, who inhabit the New Zealand Islands, be left to the wanton cruelty of men who disgrace the British name? No. These fields of arduous and expensive exertion may be considered as almost exclusively our own. And we will, by the help of God, maintain our footing there, in confident assurance that the Gospel, the grand Civilizer of the Nations, will win its mighty way.

There is one very important part of the Society's plans on which your Committee beg permission to dwell. It is the establishment of CHRISTIAN INSTITUTIONS, under the protection of British authority, in the most favourable stations for diffusing the light of truth among the Heathen. In these Institutions, it is proposed that provision shall be made for training up the native youth in the knowlege of agriculture and the simple arts, and in qualifyng some of them to become teachers of their countrymen, and others, if it shall please God, preachers of the Gospel. These Institutions will serve as points of support to the exertions of the Society in their respective quarters: they may be rendered the asylums of its widows and orphans; and they will become, in various ways, a source of beneficent influence over the surrounding tribes.

Such an Institution is about to be established within the Colony of Sierra Leone. The Society has already four Settlements on that coast, in which about 200 native children receive Christian Instruction. These Settlements are all subject to the caprice of the natives. But the Institution in question will be secure under the protection of the Colonial Government of Sierra Leone. His Majesty's Ministers have on this, as on every other occasion, manifested the utmost readiness to assist the designs of the Society, and to extend the moral and religious influence of their country.

It is proposed to receive into this Institution the multitudes of African Children, who are liberated from smuggling slave vessels. Any benevolent person who gives £.5 per annum, may have the honour to support and educate one such child, and may affix to the child any name which he may please. The Committee are happy to report, that they have received nearly one hundred such names, and that the sum of about £.500 is annually paid to the Society's fund for this object.

In New South Wales we hope to form such an Institution, for the benefit of New Zealand; another near Calcutta; and a third at Malta. The Society de Propagandâ Fide has shewn us the advantages arising from establishments of this nature; and the Baptists of Serampore have, in more modern times, proved their efficacy.

There has been of late a great accession to the Colony, of Africans of different tribes and languages, of whose moral and religious state no proper care has yet been taken. Of these, about 1000, it is supposed, are children; and most of them friendless and destitute, stolen from all the various tribes on the coast. A very laudable regard has been paid to education in the Colony, and exertions are now making in this respect; but the rapid accession to the number of these destitute children, by the liberation of them from Slave Smugglers, and the large increase which may yet be expected from the same source, demand more energetic and systematic efforts to rescue them from ignorance, and to train them up in the knowledge of Christianity, and of such occupations as may benefit themselves and their country.

On whom does this office of Christian Charity so naturally devolve, as on the Church Missionary Society?

The efforts of the Society in Africa are wholly directed to the civilizing and evangelizing of the Natives. A greater number of these Natives, and of various tongues, are brought together in Sierra Leone than in any other place within reach of the Society, and may be instructed there with more security than elsewhere.

As the Society's establishments increase in Africa, Sierra Leone will become more necessary as a point of support. An asylum will be required for them, which may be prepared in the Colony with much greater advantage than in England.

Children received under the Society's care in the Colony, and brought up in Christian principles, would add rapidly to the moral influence of the Colony on the natives; and would become, under the Divine Blessing, the means of extensively diffusing civilization and Christianity. They should all receive a good English Education. Some of them should, at a suitable age, be apprenticed among the respectable Colonists to useful trades, or placed in service: others should be brought up, within the precincts of the Institution, in a thorough knowledge of the gardening and agriculture adapted to their country; while the most serious and promising youths should receive such further education, as might prepare them for being sent into the interior as Schoolmasters, Catechists, and Ministers. Such as are likely to settle in the interior should be well instructed in the respective languages, by natives employed for that purpose. They might here receive, under proper teachers, such instruction in Arabic, as might render them successful opponents of the Mahometans, and might place them as an effectual barrier to the inroads which they have long made on the natives. Every thing is to be conducted with a view to render them, under the Divine Blessing, the best friends and enlighteners of their country.

A grant of land having been made to the Society by the Colonial Government, and the Society having requested a large addition to this grant, the way is prepared for an Establishment adapted to carry these plans into execution. There a School House should be erected, on the National Plan, for 1200 or 1500 children; with a Church or Chapel for Public Worship; and suitable accommodations for the children, for a Master and Mistress, and a Missionary and his Family; and, ultimately, provision should be made for decayed Missionaries, and Widows or Orphans of Missionaries: all in a plain and substantial style. On the Society's land, such of the liberated as are industrious and of good character, and willing to conform to the regulations of the Establishment, should be encouraged to settle; allotments of land be made to them for cultivation, for their own support; and assistance be given to them in erecting suitable habitations, on a plan previously determined.

The Society's Printing Press should be established here. Proper persons should be sent out to conduct this department. In no long course of years the Scriptures would issue from this press in all the most important languages of Western Africa, together with all the various elementary books necessary for teaching the natives their own tongues.

"The CHRISTIAN INSTITUTION OF SIERRA LEONE, established and supported by the British Church Missionary Society, for the maintenance and education of African Children, and for the diffusion of Christianity and of useful knowledge among the Natives," would be an honour to Britain and to the Christian Name, and an incalculable blessing to Africa.

Your Committee rejoice to add, that this proposal has been laid before His Majesty's Ministers, who have very liberally rendered the utmost assistance to this important design, and will place all the liberated children under the Society's care.

Your Committee have further to state, that the prayer of a Memorial presented by them to Government, on the erection of a Church at Sierra Leone, and the augmentation of the Chaplain's salary, accompanied by another Memorial * on these subjects from that zealous and unwearied friend of Africa, his Excellency Governor Maxwell, has been most readily granted.

On some other points in their Memorial your Committee have not, as yet, obtained a definitive answer. They doubt not, however, but His Majesty's Ministers will render every practicable aid to their attempts for the benefit of Africa.

Your Committee cannot contemplate the prospect opened before them by the establishment of the Christian Institution of Sierra Leone, without feelings of ardent hope that it may please God to grant to the Society the high reward of its labours and anxieties with respect to Africa, in seeing many of her sons come forth to sustain the part of the enlighteners and best friends of their country.

The Committee have great pleasure in stating the success of the plan proposed in the last Report, of taking under the Society's protection such African Children as might be named by persons in this country, willing to contribute five pounds per annum for the support of each child. The names of more than a hundred children have been received, and upwards of £.500 is annually paid to the Society for the benevolent purpose of their maintenance and education in Africa*.

* As it may be interesting to the Society to see, at one view, the names which have been selected for the African Children, all that have been received up to the time of sending this sheet to press are here subjoined in three Alphabetical Lists.

will probably be collected together on Leicester Mountain, an elevated spot in the high grounds behind Freetown, where the grant of land has been made to the Society.

Charitable persons, who feel for Africa in her wretchedness and degradation, cannot surely apply to a nobler purpose an annual benefaction of five pounds, than in the support and Christian education of a little African Pensioner, to be succeeded by another when the instruction of one may have been completed.

The Reports of the Society must have already convinced the Members that the West African Mission has to contend with difficulties unknown in all other missions. The habits, and the supposed interests of the Native Chiefs, lead them to suspicion and jealousy of the motives of the Society and its Missionaries; and these feelings have been cherished and confirmed by evil men, who lived on the misery and degradation of Africa. Misled by these views, they have oppressed and injured the most disinterested and self-denying men who ever settled among them. The adherents to the Slave Trade have persisted in calumniating them as spies and informers; and the efforts of his Majesty's Government at Sierra Leone, for the eradication of this commerce, have been revenged on the Society's Establishments. One of the houses in the Bashia Settlement has been burnt; and the School-House in the Canoffee Settlement burst into flames, in the dead of night, while the children were asleep; but they were all providentially alarmed in sufficient time to escape, by the falling of some burning thatch on the face of one of the boys. The Chiefs have confessed that wicked men perpetrated these cruel acts.

In truth, the Society's Missionaries on this coast have long encountered, and are still called to encounter, difficulties from the climate, from the habits of the natives, and from the machinations of evil men, which seem unequalled in any other part of the great Missionary Field; and which loudly call on the Members of the Society, and on the Christian World at large, for their sympathy and their prayers.

On this subject the Committee quote, with pleasure, the sentiments of one of their own body*, in his Sermon before the Society, on occasion of the departure of the last Missionaries for Africa.

Perhaps no efforts of Christian Charity are more nearly allied to the persevering fortitude recommended in my text, than those which teach us to bear up under the delays and discouragements which Providence may see fit to interpose, especially where our duty in making an attempt is clear and imperative. Accordingly, I do not conceive that there is any one part of the various designs for Missions now on foot, where Christian love and perseverance have been more remarkably called for, than in the Mission to the Western shores of Africa. What could so loudly demand our aid as the condition of the natives of that long-injured coast? What wrongs ever equalled those which Britons had inflicted on that unoffending people? The efforts which in other quarters of the world might be the effusion of benevolence, were in this the mere dictate of justice. The mission was new in its whole character. The measures to be pursued were quite distinct from those which might have been adopted with a civilized or polished people. It was not to be expected, that translations could be rapidly produced into the languages of the coast, that numerous assemblages of people could be collected, that converts among the adults could be made. Our national crimes had effectually prevented all this. We had to bring up the degraded natives from the gulf in which British cruelty had entombed them. We had to labour through all the preparatory obstacles which the Slave Trade had accumulated around us. We had to wait patiently through years of exemplary benevolence, before the people could believe that a white man really intended their benefit. We had to combat, not merely with the danger of shipwreck, which has repeatedly suspended our exertions; or the insalubrity of the climate, which has taken off several of our most pious missionaries: but with the ignorance and vice of our fallen nature, aggravated by long habits of fraud and violence and blood; both as it respected the natives who were corrupted by our crimes, and the slave-dealers who were alarmed by our attempts to remedy them.

The Missionaries are not, however, discouraged by their sufferings, nor is your Committee discouraged. These great labours of Christian charity will gradually earn their reward. Nearly 200 children are now maintained and educated in the different Settlements. At Bashia, Mr. Renner and Mr. Wilhelm are erecting a Church; and Mr. Wenzel is building another at Canoffee *. At Yongroo, Mr. Nyländer is enlarging his school, and proceeding vigorously in the preparation of elementary books to teach the Bulloms their own tongue. The Gospel of St. Matthew will soon be forwarded to the Society to be printed. It will be the first book of the word of God which has ever appeared in the native languages of this coast. At Gambier (the new settlement of the Society), Mr. and Mrs. Klein are established, with the prospect of a large school.

The death of several of the persons attached to the Mission, who sailed with Mr. Butscher for Africa, was mentioned in the last Report. The Committee have now the painful task to add, that the third layman, Conrad Henry Meisner, who was sent out as a carpenter, is no more; and that Mrs. Quast also died at sea, on her return to England, after the decease of her husband. In the Rio Pongas in particular, the Missionaries have had to contend with much debility and sickness. Mr. Wilhelm was laid aside for many months.

On this subject the Committee feel the force of Mr. Renner's reflections.

> The laymen and their wives, (he says in a Letter to the Secretary,) six in number, who accompanied brother Butscher from England to Africa, are reduced to ONE within eighteen months! What can we say, who are but of yesterday? The Lord is mighty in battle, but we know that he is also mighty in truth, love, and mercy; and he makes no mistake in sending the messenger of death to Mr. and Mrs. Quast, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, and Mr. Meisner. The dead cannot praise thee! but the death of the dead must and doth praise thee, thou King over life and death! "Spare us, good Lord; and save thy people," in a dying hour, "whom thou hast redeemed with thy most precious blood, and be not angry with them for ever!"

It must afford the Society the highest satisfaction to witness the support which it pleased God to grant the Missionaries under their severe and complicated trials.* Without, indeed, were fightings, and within fears: yet their Heavenly Master strengthened them with faith and patience. Witnesses of the death, one after another, of those who had just arrived to assist in their labours—worne down themselves by sickness—aspersed and calumniated—agitated with anxious fears—exposed to personal danger—expecting, through the weary night, the moment when fire would be put to their dwellings, or the sword run through their hearts—yet their God upheld them. Let us, with them, thankfully adore His mercy; and encourage ourselves in the hope that He has shewn them and the Society herein a token for good, that they which hate them may see it and be ashamed, because thou, Lord, hast holpen them and comforted them!

In dependence on Divine aid, the Committee determined to continue, in the face of difficulties, either felt or apprehended, its efforts for the good of Africa. Seven persons connected with the Society embarked, at Deal, on board the Willding, Captain Gibson. These were the Rev. John Christopher Sperrhacken, a Lutheran Clergyman, with Mrs. Sperrhacken; Mrs. Hartwig, who proceeded to join her husband, he having returned to the service of the Society; Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, schoolmaster and schoolmistress; Mr. Jellorrum Harrison, a young African; and Thomas Morgan, a native boy, committed to the Society's care by Governor Maxwell.

The Rev. John Henry Schulze, another Lutheran Clergyman, could not accompany his friends, as he waited the arrival from Berlin of Miss David, a young countrywoman of his own, to whom he was to be married, with the consent of the Committee.

Before their embarkation the Missionaries were addressed from the pulpit, at the request of the Committee, by the Rev. Daniel Wilson, in a manner well adapted, with the Divine Blessing, to make an abiding impression on their hearts. Instructions were afterwards delivered to them, by the Committee, at a Meeting held at the House of the Society, to which suitable answers were returned by them*.

Your Committee cannot but express their admiration of the Christian courage and the deep sense of duty which have led Mrs. Hartwig to sacrifice the comforts of an honourable and useful station, and to encounter again the perils of a climate which had once driven her from Africa, in the hope that she might be the means of confirming that penitence which her husband expressed for his past errors, and of fixing him in the service of the Mission. He left England, in 1804, as one of the Society's first Missionaries to Africa; but has been several years from under its protection. Mrs. Hartwig, who left Africa in 1806 for the restoration of her health in England, had been detained till now from returning thither by the habits and conduct of her husband.

While the Society's Missionaries were delayed and impeded in the acquisition of Susoo, by the necessary instruction of the native children in English, Mr. Hartwig, in his wanderings, had acquired a good knowledge of that tongue; and, being competently acquainted with the Original Scriptures, he has been settled at Gambier, in the capacity of Interpreter of Susoo and Translator of the Scriptures. The Committee have confirmed this appointment, and have sent out instructions to him to prepare elementary books and the New Testament in Susoo, with all convenient dispatch. In this capacity he will be entitled to the salary of a Missionary, so long as he shall conduct himself well; but the Committee have declined receiving him into the relation of a Missionary, until, by a course of consistent conduct, he shall have re-established his character in Africa. They cannot, however, but hope and pray that a recollection of his past errors, and of that occasion of reproach which has been given by them throughout the coast, will redouble his vigilance, and stimulate him to improve to the highest purpose that knowledge of Susoo which he has acquired.

The African youth, Jellorrum Harrison, left the Rio Pongas, several years since, with Mr. Brunton, whom he accompanied to Karass, in Russian Tartary. On the death of Mr. Brunton, he came back to this country, and was committed to the care of the Society, by the Edinburgh Missionary Society. He has qualified himself to take the office of Schoolmaster in the Settlements; and returns to his native shores, as your Committee hope, with the settled purpose of devoting himself to the best interests of his country. He is related to Mr. W. Fernandez, Chief on the Rio Dembia, who has rendered very kind and seasonable protection to the Missionaries, and will doubtless gladly second the efforts of his young kinsman to improve the condition of his countrymen.

The Willding left Deal on the 30th of November. She was detained nearly three weeks at Plymouth by stress of weather, where the Missionaries were received with great kindness by the friends of the Society. They finally proceeded to sea from the Cove of Cork, on the 5th of January; and are arrived, it is hoped, before this at Sierra Leone.

The attempts of the Society in Africa are unavoidably attended, and will be for some years to come, with a great expenditure. The outfit of the persons lately embarked, with the stores requisite for the support of the Settlements and the maintenance of the African Children, amounts to upward of £.3000. In the state of insecurity and perturbation, under which the Settlements have hitherto laboured, little or nothing could be done by them toward their own support. Whenever the total destruction of the Slave Trade shall give security to the Society in the developement of its plans, there is good reason to hope, that, by the produce of the soil, its present and future Settlements may be brought, in a great measure at least, to support themselves; while habits of honest industry will be cherished among the natives, in the place of treachery, rapacity, and sloth.

Mr. Sperrhacken having been appointed to assist Mr. Nyländer in the Bullom Mission, at Yongroo, both he and his wife would apply themselves during the passage to the study of the elementary books lately printed in that tongue by the Society; and would avail themselves of the assistance of a Native

Bullom, whom they found among the sailors, returning to his own country.

In the midst of the painful feelings excited by the difficulties of the Susoo Mission, and the anxieties which your Committee cannot but feel on various grounds with reference to the future, they gather encouragement from the state and prospects of the Bullom Mission, and the patient and steady manner in which God has enabled Mr. Nyländer to pursue the great objects of the Mission. Various affecting instances of the superstitions of the Bulloms are recorded in the Missionary Register; but Mr. Nyländer is sowing among them the seed of the Divine Word. Copies of the Arabic Bible, which the Society has been enabled to send to its Missions by the liberality of the British and Foreign Bible Society, have been distributed among Mahometans by Mr. Nyländer, and have awakened much enquiry. Your Committee cannot, indeed, but hope that the superiority over their countrymen which Mahometanism has given to the natives who have received it, will be made instrumental, through Divine Mercy, of opening an access for the Gospel.

The Instructions recorded in the last Report have been received by the Missionaries; who have expressed their sense of the importance to be attached to them, and their determination as far as possible to act up to them.

Mr. Butscher has accepted the office of Chaplain to the Colony, according to the permission of the Committee, mentioned in the last Report; and will probably occupy that station until a suitable English Chaplain shall be found. The Society will be glad to hear his statements on this subject.

Sierra Leone, Feb. 1, 1814.

Having perused your Letter to me, dated August 16th, 1813, respecting the Chaplaincy of this Colony, and a proper schoolmaster, and the liberty granted me by the Society of taking on me the spiritual charge of this Colony, should I see it to be my duty to do so, I was certainly at first very much at a loss how to act in this important affair.

On the one hand, I considered that my engagement with my Society was to be their immediate Missionary; that God, by their means, had led me to become a Missionary among the Susoos, who, in general, testified much regard and esteem toward me: add to this, the charge which I received last year from the Society, to erect a Settlement on the River Dembia, which I could not possibly shake off with any easiness of mind.

On the other hand, the great number of inhabitants in this Peninsula—the utter want of a responsible and respectable Ministry—the despair in which the Society is of supplying this want from home—the many heathen in the Colony—the multitudes of children—the great importance to the Society and their Missionaries of having a confidential medium of communication with their present and future settlements—the great aid which might be rendered, through the blessing of God, by such means, to the spiritual interests of this Colony, and perhaps of the whole coast—the condescension of his Excellency in accepting my feeble services:—these various considerations presented themselves to my mind as of vast importance; and much I wished for brother Renner, with whom I might advise.

It occurred to me, however, that his Excellency being a well wisher to the cause of our Society, I would go with your letter to him, and read him that paragraph in which you speak of the Chaplaincy. Accordingly I went, and he seemed to be highly pleased to hear that our Society bear it much on their heart to supply this Colony with useful men. He promised me permission to erect the Gambier Settlement, and to act for the Society as their Missionary, till other Missionaries should come out to fill my station, if I would take the Chaplaincy upon me from this first of January, and he would give me the salary, provided I would sometimes come to the Colony to solemnize Baptism and Matrimony, till I could entirely devote myself to the charge; upon which I accepted the Chaplaincy.

Before your Committee quit Africa, they must advert to the apprehended revival of the Slave Trade by the French.

In compliance with a Requisition, signed by many respectable members of the Society, a Special General Meeting was held on the 18th of July, when various Resolutions were entered into, and Petitions grounded thereon prepared, and ultimately presented to both Houses of Parliament.

The issue of the efforts made on this subject is well known.

EIGHT HUNDRED AND SIXTY-FOUR Petitions were presented to Parliament, signed by about EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND PERSONS, invoking the exertion of British influence, for the extermination of the Slave Trade. Most of the great towns and public bodies of the Empire took their honourable station among these petitioners. The British Negotiator, supported as he was by the avowed sentiments of the chief of the allied sovereigns, and thus most significantly instructed by the moral feelings and conscience of his own country, strenuously contended, and not without success, for the rights of injured Africa. Your Committee cannot but entertain the hope that Africa will be entirely delivered, before many years have passed away, from that dire curse which has so long afflicted her. The efforts, however, of Christian Charity to rescue the natives from that gulph of moral evil in which the Slave Trade has sunk them, must be continued with patience and perseverance; and we must be still prepared for disappointment, and can expect but little and gradual success, for perhaps a long time, even after the trade itself shall have been abolished for ever. In the mean while it is possible that, after all, the Society may not be able, or may not think it expedient, to retain its present footing among the Susoos. If not, its Missionaries must retire to its new Settlement, under the protection of the Colony: and, secure from the effects of the native suspicion and misconception, must occupy themselves with the education of the liberated children, the preparation of the Scriptures and elementary books, the instruction of the adult natives, and occasional journies into the interior; and must thus prepare the way for those more extended efforts which they will find opportunities to make, when the time of God's mercy toward Africa shall come, and Africa shall learn her true interests and her real friends.

There is one obstacle to the advance of the Society's designs in Africa, and to the melioration of that injured shore, in the want of regular and convenient intercourse. Your Committee have earnestly wished that it were in their power to establish such an intercourse; but, engaged as the Society now is in very extensive designs, your Committee have feared to divert so large a sum to the maintenance of a vessel as would be for a time at least required. They had, therefore, for the present, suspended the consideration of this subject: but they have just received a communication from a warm and active friend now present, which leads them to hope that a proposal will be made to the Meeting this day, which will issue in the speedy accomplishment of this most important object*.

INDIA.

To India the Committee turn their eyes, with thankfulness to God, for the success which He has been pleased already to grant to the Society's efforts, and with increasing hopes of the diffusion of Christian light throughout its populous regions.

Anxious, several years since, to take some share in the attempt to awaken the millions of our Mahometan and Pagan fellow-subjects in the East from their superstitions, but finding its means and its strength almost exhausted on Africa, the Society formed in Calcutta the Corresponding Committee which now represent it there, and to which it entrusted a considerable sum to be employed in any way in which it might please God to present a promising opening. The Society had no distinct object in view, but did all that then seemed practicable. And, mark the result! This money, thus transmitted in humble reliance on Divine Providence that some useful way of appropriating it would be opened, has not only been the means of preserving from destruction the admirable School Institutions of the late Dr. John in the Peninsula, and of bringing under the care of the Society nearly a thousand Indian Children; but it has led to the accomplishment of a very important work in the northern part of India.

In the last Report the Committee had the pleasure to congratulate the Society on the establishment of the British Episcopacy in India. Dr. Thomas Fanshaw Middleton, Archdeacon of Huntingdon, having been appointed to the important office of Bishop of Calcutta, a Deputation from the Society, consisting of the President, with the Treasurer, and the Secretary, waited on his Lordship, before he left London, to convey the congratulations of the Society on his appointment, and to state its objects and proceedings in India. The Bishop received the Deputation with great kindness; and assured the members of his anxiety, in reliance on the blessing of God, to promote Christianity in the East, according to the various circumstances and opportunities which Providence might open before him, in connection with that primitive system of Order and Doctrine, which promised the most important and permanent success to Christianity in India.

Three Archdeaconries, subordinate to the See, have been established at the Presidencies. The Rev. Henry Lloyd Loring has been appointed to that of Calcutta, the Rev. John Mousley to Madras, and the Rev. George Barnes to Bombay.

CALCUTTA.

The Corresponding Committee of the Society at this Presidency have enlarged their number. The openings for exertion have induced your Committee to increase the annual sum placed at the disposal of the Society's representatives at Calcutta to £1500. Mr. Thomason has continued to manifest the most ardent zeal in promoting the views of the Society. The office of Secretary to the Corresponding Committee is now filled by the Rev. Thomas Robertson, another of the Chaplains of the Company.

Proposals have been made to your Committee, which may lead to the establishment of a Christian Institution near Calcutta, on a plan and with objects somewhat similar to that which is in preparation at Sierra Leone: but the subject has been referred to the Calcutta Committee to examine and report thereon.

AGRA.

The detail given in the last Report of the proceedings and success of the Society's Reader and Catechist, Abdool Messee, at and around this station, must have deeply interested the Members, and all who are anxious for the extension of Divine Truth in the world.

The Committee refer, with great pleasure, to the Journals* of Abdool Messee's proceedings, kept by the Rev. Daniel Corrie, his wise counsellor and faithful friend. They exhibit various indications that the time of God's mercy toward India is fast approaching; and that it may be soon said of India, while looking on the abominations of the multitude, or the altars to the Unknown God of the more refined, The times of this ignorance God winked at, but now commandeth all men every where to repent, because he hath appointed a day in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that Man whom he hath ordained. It is evident from this Journal, and from other communications respecting India, that a spirit of inquiry is rapidly diffusing itself, especially among Musselmen; and the most happy consequences may be confidently anticipated, through the Divine Blessing, on the judicious and conciliating measures pursued by the real friends of India to enlighten and benefit her immense population.

The Journals to which the Committee have referred are full of interesting matter, clearly indicative of the suitableness of the instrument for that great work in which it has pleased God to render him so successful. The Members of the Society, and all others who pray for the prosperity of Zion, will read, with devout gratitude to Almighty God, the report which Mr. Corrie makes in the subjoined letter, from Agra:—"Since our arrival at this place in March last, forty-one adults and fourteen children of theirs have been baptized into the Faith of Christ, and all continue to walk in the truth." And this great work has been effected, various persons of consideration and intelligence have been baptized, the foundations of a native Christian Church in strict union with our own have been thus firmly laid in that populous city, by the blessing of God on the reading and exposition of his Word, in less than a single year! Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? Behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest.

On this subject, Mr. Corrie has addressed a letter to the Secretary, which your Committee earnestly commend to the serious attention of the Clergy.

Reverend Sir— Agra, E. I. Dec. 31, 1813.

You are made acquainted, through the Rev. Mr. Thomason, with the labours of Abdool Messee, who is engaged as a Catechist for the Society for Missions to Africa and the East; and of the success attending them. Since our arrival at this place, in March last, forty-one adults and fourteen children of theirs have been baptized into the Faith of Christ, and all continue to walk in the truth. The prospect of increasing numbers is very encouraging; and, as several of the converts are men of learning and of some influence, there seems ground to hope that lasting benefit is intended by our Almighty and most Merciful Father to this place.

The want of useful Books in their own language will, however, render the Native Converts for a long time in need of European Intelligence and Firmness.—Though the Grace of the Gospel be sufficient for their individual salvation, yet they are not sufficiently acquainted with the History of Mankind, and especially of the Church of Christ, to enable them to calculate on the probable consequences of any particular mode of conduct; nor can they, for some time, reap the benefit to be derived from the experience of those who have gone before them in the good way.

I feel, therefore, anxious to call the attention of the Society of which you are Secretary, to this part of the world; and to beg that, if practicable, a Missionary may be sent over to take charge of this Infant Church. The place of worship and the premises, now occupied, should, with pleasure, be made over in perpetuity for the use of the Mission; and I think I may affirm, that the friends of religion in this country would find sufficient support for the person whom you may send, without his continuing burthensome to the Society.

Among the reasons why a Missionary should be sent to this country in preference to any other, I would beg leave respectfully to suggest two: viz. The teeming population of India; and, The protection of equitable laws, which puts it in the power of a Missionary to do more good with less personal inconvenience here than in any other Heathen Country.

The objections raised at home to the Evangelization of India, on the score of political danger, are founded in entire misapprehension of the subject. It seems not to have occurred to either the friends or foes of the measure, that there are none among the Natives who have the means, whatever might be their will, of resisting the British Government. Almost all the Ancient Reigning Families are reduced to a state of dependence; nor, at any time, did ever the zeal of the Hindoos lead them to any formidable opposition even to the intolerant and avowedly proselyting Mahometans: so that neither do past experience nor present probabilities oppose any difficulty in the way of publishing the Gospel in India.

Besides, it might well be expected that reflecting men should discriminate between a senseless attack upon Images, Processions, &c. and the simple inoffensive statement of Divine Truth. The former might well be expected to rouse every bad passion of the human mind: the latter will always command respect, if not obedience—whilst the same Divine Truth assures us, his Word shall not return void.

Our method is, to state the plain truths of the Gospel, with little or no reference to any other system called Religion. By pointing out the Scripture Doctrines of man's Fall through the transgression of Adam, and his Recovery by the Lord Jesus Christ, which appeals to matter of obvious and general experience, usually such a sensation is produced as leads some one or other to examine what foundation he rests upon; and the result is, always, THAT THERE IS SALVATION IN NONE BUT IN GOD INCARNATE!

Permit me also respectfully to solicit the attention of your Society to the subject of providing Ministers from among the Native Converts: for it seems out of the question ever to expect a sufficient number of regularly ordained Ministers from England. The Liturgy of our Church, translated, has been of singular benefit in this place; and every circumstance in the case of a Church newly gathered from among the Heathen, demonstrates that the order of our Church is that of the Primitive Christian Churches. Whatever may be said in favour of the liberty of people to choose their own Ministers; or in favour of Extempore Prayer, in a more advanced state of Christian Education and Experience; does not apply in our circumstances: and, it follows of course, that a person who should be the means of planting the Gospel in any city or place, remains the Superintendant and Umpire, in all cases requiring arrangement. Under this persuasion, it would be painful, either to leave a Native Congregation without a Pastor, or to usurp authority. I would humbly, therefore, request advice and help on this head.—Abdool Messee seems, for heavenly-mindedness, discretion, and zeal, to be worthy of the Ministry: and we are endeavouring to qualify some promising young Christians in this place for the Ministry, by instructing them in the learned languages of this country, and in Hebrew; to which we propose adding the study of Greek: and thus we hope they may one day be found worthy of Episcopal Ordination.

The Rev. Mr. Thomason will forward this: and I trust no apology is necessary for endeavouring to draw the attention of the Society, of which you are Secretary, to this quarter. The opinion of one who resides on the spot, and whose personal safety, attachments, and interests are much more involved in the subject than those of any retired Indian, may perhaps be considered worthy of attention, however insignificant the writer may be.—I may be also allowed to express anxiety, that the Church to which I belong may take a conspicuous part in the progressive work of Evangelization now going on in this country, since she possesses facilities above all other societies, and her ordinances are best calculated, in my opinion, to ensure edification, and that the work should not fail in after-generations.

I remain, &c.

DANIEL CORRIE.

In the whole range of opportunities of fulfilling their Ministry, which may be opening before the Younger Clergy, is there one of greater promise than that which this Letter discovers? Can a zealous Clergyman, of intelligence and acquirements, who is not yet surrounded by Christian Attachments at home, hear in vain this pressing call, Come over, and help us? Such men your Committee will gladly receive under their protection; and will take measures for their entering into that wide and prolific field of labour.

It will be seen from Mr. Corrie's Letter, how seasonably the establishment of the English Episcopacy in India comes in furtherance of the openings of Divine Providence in one part of the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Calcutta; and your Committee earnestly pray that, in every quarter, his Lordship may be speedily called to exercise that wise and paternal superintendence over the Churches of Native Converts, which, as they are confident, it will be the rejoicing of his heart to render.

The Friends of Christianity in India hail with joy these promising appearances. Mr. Thomason writes from Calcutta, under date of Dec. 7, 1813:—

> The work at Agra is progressive. I have been feasting on the thought of the satisfaction which you will all derive from its interesting details. Abdool proves a steady, zealous, humble labourer. We have every encouragement. I know not how things will appear to you in England; but we, in this remote corner, comparing the great efforts now making by the nation for obtaining facilities to Missionary Labours in India, with the work actually begun and in progress—hopeful progress—cannot but acknowledge herein the gracious hand of Providence. You are labouring for us THERE, and it pleases God to afford multiplied evidence that there is really work to be done HERE. While the labourers are preparing, the fields are becoming white unto the harvest.
> This new day rejoices our hearts greatly. A New Day it may be called: for, never before, has the Gospel been attended with such remarkable effects in THIS quarter. Learned Musselmen have been peculiarly stubborn hitherto. Now they have been made to bend: as you will perceive in some recent instances at Agra. And I cannot but entertain strong hopes that we shall see yet greater things done.
> The tidings respecting Abdool must have arrived amidst all your exertions; and must have enforced the arguments of those who contend for the prudent exercise of Missionary Zeal. Doubtless we must expect difficulties; and, soon perhaps, severe trials will arise. But we may safely commit the event to the Providence of God. Our business is, in faith and with prayer to cast in the seed, and to look to the Great Head of the Church to prosper his own work in our hands.

Subsequent Dispatches and Journals have arrived. Some remarkable instances appear in them, of that gradual preparation in the East for the reception of the Gospel, which indicates the over-ruling hand of God. The Native Satirical Poets are bringing their own religious code into contempt, and preparing the minds of men to seek a better system.

We are most happy, (says Mr. Thomason,) in receiving your increased bounty. The first payment we made out of your additional bounty was to beloved Corrie, who had embarrassed himself by his Agra School and Chapel. The debt was a MISSIONARY debt; and, therefore, the discharge of it came immediately within the scope of your Society's plans. You will henceforth receive regularly an account of our receipts and disbursements, as we are now beginning to act as a little body.

If it should please God to give success to our plans, we hope to find Readers among the Christian Converts, who may be sent forth with advantage into all the provinces. But this will be, in its nature, a slow work. Our eye, however, is kept upon it. Abdool is doing the work of an Evangelist; and several in Mr. Corrie's congregation are training for labour: so that, before the end of the year, we may reasonably hope to have the number of our Readers considerably enlarged.

I hope that when our Society is formed, and more hands engaged in the work, you will hear more fully about the interesting labours of individuals in various parts of the country. There is a growing attention to the wants of the Natives; and Schools are now formed, by private individuals, for the instruction of Native Children, which promise to be productive of very extensive good.

These successful labours of Abdool and his friends begin to render this station of the Society a centre of considerable influence on the surrounding country. Copies of the Scriptures have been sent to many places, and inquirers after truth have visited the city from various and distant quarters. Native Teachers of great promise have been raised up to support and extend the efforts of Abdool Messee. At Lucknow, at Delhi, and at other places of importance, there are many inquiries into Christianity, and opportunities are opening for the establishment of Missionary Stations. English Residents at Meerut, at Muttra, and elsewhere, are diligent in the support of Schools, and in the diffusion of Christian Truth.

And thus, while the Society and its Missionaries were waiting God's gracious time for announcing the Gospel to Africa, it has pleased him to make it the unconscious instrument, as it were, of its most remarkable triumph in our day. This is not said by the Committee by way of even insinuating any comparison with the efforts or the success of other Societies, but to confirm in themselves, and to recommend to others, that first principle of all Missionary exertions—AN ENTIRE CONFIDENCE IN GOD, IN THE PRUDENT USE OF ALL OPPORTUNITIES AS THEY MAY PRESENT THEMSELVES.

Your Committee hear, with regret, that Mr. Corrie's health requires his return, for a season, to his native country: but they trust that he will have been able to make such arrangements before his departure as may supply, in some degree, the loss sustained by the suspension of his valuable aid.

The Society will hear with pleasure that the printing of the Hindoostanee New Testament of the late Rev. Henry Martyn, in the Persian character, has been completed; and that a large impression is in the course of circulation, and is every where received with gratitude both by learned and unlearned. Large impressions of each Gospel and of the Acts of the Apostles, in separate books, have also been circulated.

The principal parts of the Liturgy have been translated, by Mr. Corrie, into Hindoostanee, and an edition printed for the use of the Native Congregations. The Liturgy is peculiarly adapted to the habits and state of feeling of many among the Converts. Your Committee trust that they shall ere long witness the wide diffusion of our Apostolical Formularies in the most popular languages of India.

MADRAS.

The Rev. Messrs. Schnarrè and Rhenius, whose designation for the Peninsula was mentioned in the last Report, landed, in safety, after a voyage of about four months, at Madras. About 500 persons were on board the Marquis of Huntley. The Missionaries had maintained Divine Service when circumstances admitted.

They were received with Christian cordiality by the Rev. Marmaduke Thompson, Chaplain of the Honourable Company; and were very kindly entertained in his own family during their stay at Madras, and experienced uniform regard from him and Mrs. Thompson. "We thank the Lord," they say, "for his good providence, in bringing us acquainted with one of his most faithful and zealous servants in promoting his everlasting kingdom."

Here they were met by the afflicting intelligence of the death of Dr. John; and with the news, still more afflicting to them, of the decease of the Rev. Mr. Jacobi. With him they were personally acquainted; and they had all anticipated great pleasure in labouring together in the same field.

They express themselves, however, as animated and encouraged by the tidings of the great work which is taking place among the Mahometans, in particular at and near Agra, Mr. Corrie's Journal of Abdool Messee's proceedings having reached Madras.

Mr. Caemmerer having become, by the death of

Dr. John, Senior of the Royal Danish Mission at Tranquebar, Mr. Thompson wrote to him on the arrival of the Missionaries, apprising him of the object for which they had been sent to India. Mr. Caemmerer inviting them to proceed to Tranquebar, and offering them every assistance in his power, they left Madras on the 20th of July; Mr. Thompson having, with great kindness and care, provided for their convenience and comfort.

In reference to a request of the Committee on the subject, Mr. Thompson states, "at the time this reaches you, you may be assured that you have, if not an Auxiliary Society, at least a Corresponding Committee, in existence and active service in Madras," and then adds,

> I have my papers prepared for them to enter immediately upon business—the first of which will be to take into consideration the fittest station for your two Missionaries—and particularly how far they must be qualified and desirable for either of two stations which now offer—the two important stations of Madras itself and Travancore; and to these two let me entreat the particular attention of your Committee. Madras being the great port and chief town of the whole Peninsula, its importance as a Missionary station is most obvious: and Travancore is scarcely less so from the number of nominal Christians throughout it, who are truly as sheep without a shepherd, and particularly from being the country of the poor Syrians.

Your Committee have, with great satisfaction, placed the sum of £.500 per annum at the disposal of the Society's representatives at Madras, for the support of the Missions and Schools in the Peninsula. They have no doubt but the zeal of its friends at that Presidency will considerably augment that sum; nor have they felt hesitation in encouraging them to look for further support from home, to any reasonable extent.

Your Committee beg to direct to this subject also, the attention of the Younger Clergy. Can any of them to whom God has, by his grace, given any due measure of ability and piety, read unmoved Mr. Thompson's earnest call on behalf of India?—

Let me express the joy which it has afforded us in India to hear of the great zeal which seems to be kindling in blessed England among the Members of our own Church, in behalf of Missions, and particularly of Missions to India. Stir up, Brethren beloved, the Grace of God which is in you, and abound yet more and more in this service of love. I write from the spot to which your attention is directed: and my mind, as yours, has been much set upon this great object: and with confidence I assure you, that they have not misled you, who have spoken most largely on the preparation of India at this time to receive the Messengers whom you will send with the everlasting Gospel in their hands.

Your Missionaries were welcome indeed to me, and afforded me very great satisfaction through the whole time of their stay with me, which has also been continued by their correspondence to this day. I heartily hope and trust we shall find them truly valuable Missionaries; simple, sincere, diligent in their studies, prudent and conciliating in their deportment, and alive continually to their great work, the work of the Lord among the poor Heathen. Several such Missionaries, I am happy to say, we have, and I say it from an intimate knowledge of them, under the Presidency of Madras—men who are had in honour of all around them, Europeans and Natives—men whom to know might perhaps dissipate the fears and disarm the prejudices of certain alarmists and others amongst you, whose speeches and pamphlets have found their way to India, and not a little surprize and amuse those of us who know any thing at all of the Missions and Missionaries, and the Native Disposition. I shall rejoice to receive, as I hope to do, many, many more such from you.

Singleness of eye and entire devotedness, (he observes, speaking of the men whom India needs,) somewhat of maturity in the graces of the Christian Temper, and a cultivated mind, with an aptness for acquiring languages, are here particularly requisite. Send me such men, and I will receive them indeed as brethren beloved, and will shew them stations of an extent and importance for a very Apostle to rejoice in! If possible I would also particularly recommend, that they should be Englishmen. A Church-of-England ENGLISH Missionary in India would yet be, I believe, an entire new thing! Proclaim it—and let us see whose shall be the honour to be the first—an English Schwartz, and Gericke, and John to the Natives of India.

I am aware (he adds in a subsequent letter) how strongly our beloved brother Corrie, at Agra, is pleading with you for his station; and of the great importance of procuring some able person to superintend, with his own diligence and wisdom and zeal, the work of the Lord at Agra.

The Committee cannot but hope that these loud calls will be heard by some of those young clergymen, who have at heart the honour of their Divine Master among the Heathen. India, from north to south, invokes their aid.

In compliance with Mr. Thompson's request for assistance, the Rev. Thomas Norton, who was appointed to Ceylon, will proceed, with the sanction of the Honourable Company, to Madras.

TRANQUEBAR.

Messrs. Schnarré and Rhenius reached this place on the 28th of July, and were very kindly received by Mr. Caemmerer and his coadjutor Mr. Schreivogel. Peace having, however, been happily restored between this country and Denmark, since the appointment of Messrs. Schnarré and Rhenius to the assistance of Dr. John at Tranquebar, the Royal Mission College at Copenhagen will probably renew its care of the Tranquebar Mission, and will take charge of those promising School-Establishments which their venerable Missionary, Dr. John, has left to the protection of the Christian World.

The Committee have addressed the Danish College on this subject. They have intimated, that their Missionaries have probably by this time entered on other fields of labour; but have offered to continue, should the College wish it, either in whole or in part, the support which they have rendered to the School-Establishments, so long as they shall be conducted to the satisfaction of the Society's representatives in India*.

The continuance of the Missionaries at Tranquebar is, therefore, very uncertain. In the meantime, they are diligently employed in the acquisition of the Tamul Language, for which Tranquebar affords the very best opportunities.

In the last Report some interesting particulars were given respecting the School-Establishments of the late Dr. John. They were preserved from dissolution by the timely application of the Society's funds, and have been since supported and extended by a monthly allowance of 150 Sicca Rupees, or about £.180 per annum.

By the following Summary it will be seen that the number of Children in these Establishments amounted, on the 1st of June, 1814, to 863.

Children admitted up to June 1, 1814:

Into the English and Tamul Schools:

Protestant Christian . . .	125
Roman Christian	65
Brahmin Heathen	56
Sootra Heathen	774
	1020

* Since the Anniversary an answer has been received from the Bishop of Copenhagen, in the name of the College, thankfully accepting the Society's offer "to continue, by the care of its representatives in India, the direction and conduct of the School-Establishments;" the College not yet being enabled to maintain an uninterrupted communication with Tranquebar.

Brought forward		1020
Into the Pariah Schools:
Sootra	12
Protestant and Roman Boys	210
Protestant and Roman Girls	150
Heathen	60
		432
Total admitted		1452

Children left School up to June 1, 1814:

From the English and Tamul Schools	409
From the Pariah Schools . .	180
Total left School . . .		589
Total remaining . . .		863

A Monthly Report of these Schools is furnished to Mr. Thompson by Mr. Caemmerer, on receiving the Society's monthly allowance. Its Missionaries are already rendering good service in the inspection of the English Schools; and will extend their care to the Tamul Establishments, as their knowledge of that tongue shall increase, and so long as they may continue at Tranquebar.

Here is an engine of immense power, the beneficial effect of which cannot be doubted, if it be managed skilfully, and by assiduous and faithful labourers. It will be highly satisfactory to the friends of the Church Missionary Society, to perceive, that, by its exertions, this machine has not only been prevented from falling to pieces, but that its structure has been strengthened, and its action increased *.

* Further particulars respecting these Establishments are given in the Missionary Register.

CEYLON.

This island has of late become an object of great attention to the different Missionary Societies. The wise, liberal, and Christian policy of His Majesty's Ministers invites and encourages the prudent efforts of those Institutions to diffuse the light of Divine Truth among the Mahometan and Pagan Subjects of the Crown: and this policy will be richly repayed in the increasing strength and security of the Empire.

The Rev. Thomas Norton, and the Rev. William Greenwood, two English Clergymen, educated by the Society, were originally destined for this station. His Majesty's Ministers granted them a free passage on board the Chapman Transport, and recommended the objects of the Society to the protection of the Colonial Government. His Excellency Governor Brownrigg, and the Hon. Sir Alexander Johnston, Chief Justice of the Island, had already addressed letters to the President, assuring his Lordship of their warmest support of the Society's plans. Sir Alexander Johnston had likewise addressed a very interesting letter to the Secretary *, apprising the Society that he had selected, in compliance with its wishes expressed to him when in England, two young Cingalese, whom he would send over to this country for education, in order to their future exercise of the ministry in Ceylon.

Mr. Norton, Mr. Greenwood, and Mrs. Norton, with her infant child, left London on the evening of January 17th; but being unavoidably detained on the road, and the Chapman making her passage to Portsmouth much quicker than was expected, they reached that port about half an hour after she had sailed. They might, with ease, have overtaken her, had they met with their friends immediately on their arrival; but lost the opportunity, in consequence of their not being able, in proper time, to obtain information. She sailed without her passengers, but with their clothes and stores of preserved provisions, &c. on board.

The Missionaries were entertained at Portsmouth by the friends of the Society with the utmost kindness, and every thing was done to render their stay there pleasant to themselves and advantageous to the great cause in which they were engaged.

In the mean time a fresh outfit was prepared for them, and a passage sought in some East India Ship, which might leave them at Madras, from which place they might get down to Ceylon.

But on the 2d of February information reached town that the Chapman, after keeping the sea from the 18th to the 26th of January, had sprung all her masts and her bowsprit, and had arrived at Plymouth on the 30th to refit. The Missionaries were directed to join her without delay. They accordingly embarked at Portsmouth, on Saturday the 4th, in the Plymouth Packet, but did not reach Plymouth till about noon on Wednesday, after a distressing and tempestuous passage. Here also they were received and treated with the wonted kindness of the Society's friends in that quarter.

As there was good accommodation on board the Chapman, the Committee applied to the Lords of the Treasury to grant a passage also to the Rev. Christian Frederic Gottholf Schroeter, a Lutheran Clergyman, who came over to this country in September 1813, and has been since preparing as a Missionary for India. Their Lordships granted this further favour with the utmost readiness.

As soon as information of this was received, Mr. Schroeter left town for Plymouth on the 24th of February, where, on his arrival, he had not an hour's time for repose, as he found his Brethren on the point of embarking, the Chapman having finished her repairs, and being ordered back to Portsmouth to join convoy. They had a tedious passage, not reaching that port till the afternoon of March 3d. On the preceding evening they met the West India Fleet in the Channel, from which they learned, to their surprise and chagrin, that the East India Fleet with which the Chapman was to sail had put to sea, and had passed them unperceived. The Commander of their convoy directed the Chapman to change her course, and follow the East India Fleet; but she was soon becalmed, and obliged afterward to bear up for Portsmouth *.

Information arrived from India during these delays, which induced the Committee to request the Court of Directors to grant licences to the Missionaries to proceed to and reside in the Company's Territories, if that should be found expedient on their arrival at Ceylon; with which request the Court was pleased to comply.

But it is not the purpose of your Committee to neglect Ceylon. That island is, indeed, in less immediate want of labourers than it was when Mr. Norton and Mr. Greenwood were appointed to that station: but the Committee hope very shortly to be enabled to support the views of the Society's friends there by establishing among them some of the Missionaries, who are under preparation.

In connection with the East, the Committee wish to call the attention of the Society to PERSIA.

This interesting country very early attracted the notice of the Society. Your Committee are taking measures to supply it, in due time, with the Scriptures, Prayers, and Religious Tracts. They had a conference with the Rev. John Paterson on this subject, last year, before his return to Russia, in the service of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and received from him much valuable information.

Mr. Paterson has addressed a letter to the Secretary * from St. Petersburgh, which opens such a sphere of probable usefulness to a few well-informed and devoted Young Clergymen, that the Committee cannot but hope that it will be the means of effectually drawing the attention of some such persons to the proposal therein made, of establishing a Mission in the provinces lately ceded by Persia to Russia, on the borders of the Caspian Sea.

NEW ZEALAND.

Extracts of letters from the Rev. S. Marsden, dated Parramatta, June 18 and 23, 1813, were given in the last Report. The prospect of success to their endeavours to benefit the New Zealanders which those letters opened, induced the Committee to assign the sum of £.500 per annum to Mr. Marsden and his friends, for the promotion of the Society's views, and to suggest to them the expediency of forming an Auxiliary Society in New South Wales, with a view of assisting the Church Missionary Society in carrying on its designs in those quarters; and of promoting its Funds, so far as it may be found practicable, in the Colony.

More recent intelligence has apprised your Committee, that Mr. Marsden has purchased the Brig Active of 110 tons; and that Mr. Kendall and Mr. Hall have visited New Zealand in her, and have brought back various Chiefs and others, who, after passing some time with Mr. Marsden, were to return, accompanied by him, to New Zealand.

In the Eleventh Report of the Society is given an extract of a letter from Mr. Marsden to the Secretary, so far back as the close of 1810, on the advantages which would arise from freighting a vessel from England, to establish an intercourse among all the South Sea Islands.

This suggestion of Mr. Marsden was recommended, by the Committee, to the attention of mercantile men. A proposal which afterward came before them, attended with most liberal offers of support, to establish a vessel to visit the South Seas direct from this country, was fully discussed, and the proper inquiries were entered into; but so many difficulties arose, in respect of the union of different Christian Societies in the object, and the risks of managing such distant and complicated concerns by public bodies, that the plan was not brought to maturity.

Both the Society, therefore, and Mr. Marsden, despairing of the accomplishment, at present, of the more extensive scheme, the Brig Active was purchased for the more limited purpose of maintaining a regular intercourse between Port Jackson and New Zealand.

The Committee refer to Mr. Marsden's statement * for conclusive reasons in support of this step.

An extract from a letter of Mr. Marsden on the subject of the visit which the New Zealand Chiefs made to Port Jackson, will convince the Society that their improvement is pursued by him in the most judicious manner, and with a truly Christian spirit.

Parramatta, September 20, 1814.

The Chiefs coming over to Port Jackson will, I trust, lay a firm foundation for the work of the Mission, and secure the comfort and safety of those who may be employed therein. Were I young and free, I should offer myself to this work. It would be my delight and my joy.

* See Appendix VI.; and see the Missionary Register for many interesting details respecting the Society's attempts at NewZealand.

The Chiefs are all happy with us at Parramatta, and their minds enlarging very fast. Beholding the various works that are going on in the smiths' and carpenters' shops, the spinning and weaving, brick-making and building houses, together with all the operations of agriculture and gardening, has a wonderful effect on their minds, and will excite all their natural powers to improve their own country. The idea of my visiting them is very gratifying to their minds. At present I spend all the time I can spare with them, in conversing with them on all the different subjects that appear necessary for them to be acquainted with, particularly on the subjects of religion, government, and agriculture.

With respect to religion, I talk to them of the institution of the Sabbath Day by God himself; and they see it observed by us with particular attention. They see the prisoners mustered on Sunday Mornings, their names called over, and then marched to Church. They see the soldiers and officers marched to Church likewise; and most of the people of the town of Parramatta.

As I have many complaints to settle as a magistrate, they frequently attend; when I explain to them, afterward, the different crimes and punishments that each has committed, and what sentence is passed upon them—some men confined for one moon, and some for more, in prison, according to their crimes.

With respect to agriculture, they visit different farms, observe the plough at work, some men with the hoe, some threshing, &c. &c. They tell me, that, when they return, they shall sit up whole nights, telling their people what they have seen; and that their men will stop their ears with their fingers: "We have heard enough," they will say, "of your incredible accounts, and we will hear no more: they cannot be true."

I am fully convinced that the Chiefs, and particularly Duaterra, and Shunghee, who commands seventeen districts, will apply all their strength to agriculture, if they can obtain hoes and axes. I shall send a list of these by Captain Bunker. Mr. Kendall and Mr. Hall write to you also; and state their view and intentions.

I think no Society was ever engaged in a greater work than the Church Missionary Society is in this. The ground is wholly occupied by the Prince of Darkness; and many and powerful difficulties will, no doubt, one way or another, spring up to oppose this great work. But the Lord is King amongst the Heathen, and will, I have no doubt, establish his throne there.

I am, &c.

(Signed) SAMUEL MARSDEN.

Before your Committee quit this subject they record, with much pleasure, the establishment of a Society in New South Wales, for affording protection to the Natives of the South Sea Islands against the oppressions of Europeans, and for the advancement of their civilization and their instruction in the principles of Christianity. This Institution owes its existence to the deep interest which Mr. Marsden has long felt in the improvement and conversion of the Islanders of the South Seas. His Excellency the Governor is Patron; and his Honour the Lieutenant Governor, President: the Deputy Commissary General is appointed Treasurer; and Mr. Marsden, Secretary. The more distant Settlements have been invited to support this Philanthropic Society, which cannot fail, by due exertions, to rescue the British Name from the opprobrium to which it has been too often exposed in those Seas, and to facilitate the efforts of Christian Societies to diffuse the blessings of the Gospel throughout their shores.

MALTA AND THE LEVANT.

The Rev. Mr. Jowett, having occupied himself in preparation for the office of the Society's Literary Representative, is now approaching the time of his departure for Malta. He will take with him the fervent prayers and best wishes of the Society. A Christian Institution in that Island, for the diffusion of truth among the Jews, Mahometans, and Pagans, in particular, who border on the Mediterranean, may probably be established. A young Greek, Mr. Jerome Panà, is arrived in this country, to go through a course of instruction. Two young Arabians have probably by this time reached Malta, at the expence of the Bishop of Nicotia, and will await Mr. Jowett's arrival.

Some interesting letters from Dr. Naudi will be found in the Missionary Register. They furnish good ground for hope, that, by the Divine Blessing, the endeavours of Christians to make known their Saviour will, at length, have free course, particularly among the Jews and Mahometans of those shores.

TRANSLATIONS OF THE SCRIPTURES.

The translation of the Word of God into the various languages of Mahometans and Heathens must depend on the talents and exertions of Missionaries. Your Committee view, with pleasure, the progress which other Societies are making herein; and they are anxious that the Members and Missionaries of the Church should take their full share in this labour. The British and Foreign Bible Society will most readily employ its powerful means in dispersing such translations throughout the world.

Your Committee have ever regarded, with peculiar interest, the learned and elegant labours of the lamented Martyn. Having early devoted himself to the promotion of Christianity in the East under this Society, though he ultimately embarked for India with the full concurrence of all his friends as Chaplain to the Company, his admirable translations of the New Testament into Hindoostanee and Persian will be ever considered as honourable to the Church and the Society of which he was a distinguished member; and will prove a stimulus, it may be hoped, to other Clergymen in India, whether Chaplains or Missionaries, to dedicate, with the same piety and zeal, their talents and acquirements to the opening of the treasures of the Divine Word to the Natives.

The wide circulation, and the general acceptableness, of the Hindoostanee New Testament, have been already mentioned. It has been a great instrument in the hands of Mr. Corrie, of Abdool Messee, and of their associates, in awakening enquiry and diffusing Christian Truth, at Agra, Delhi, Lucknow, and many other places. Measures are now taking by the Corresponding Committee at Calcutta to complete this Translation by the addition of the Old Testament.

The Society felt, very early, a great desire to present to Persia a translation of the Scriptures; and some measures adopted for this purpose are recorded in the Second and Third Reports. The admired * Translation of the New Testament into that refined language by Martyn was, therefore, an object of special interest to your Committee. They could not but feel thankful to God, that, though called to his reward at an early age, he had been yet spared to accomplish so ably the first part of this great design.

Anxious to perfect that design, and to employ to the best purposes the high attainments of a distinguished oriental scholar, now under the protection of the Society, your Committee have taken in hand an arduous enterprize—the Translation of the Old Testament into Persian. They will spare no pains, nor any reasonable expence, to give the utmost perfection, by a revision perhaps in Persia itself, to any part of the Old Testament, before it shall appear.

A translation of the Scriptures into Arabic is also proceeding at Calcutta. Mr. Thomason has undertaken this important event, in conjunction with Sabat. Every effort will be employed to render this translation acceptable to the best judges of that widely-extended language.

* See Appendix VII.

Your Committee have reason, therefore, to hope that, by the exertions of the Society's friends and the judicious application of its funds, united with the labours of others on the Turkish, Tartar, and Malay Languages, the Holy Scriptures will, at no great distance of time, be presented to the whole Mahometan World.

The commencement of translations of the New Testament into two African Languages, the Susoo and the Bullom, has been already noticed.

TRANSLATIONS OF THE LITURGY.

This subject has also been mentioned, with reference to the Liturgy in Hindoostanee. The greater part of the Liturgy has been translated into Persian by an eminent Scholar, and presented by him to the Society. The Society's Orientalist will complete it, on the arrival of Martyn's Persian New Testament in this country.

TRACTS.

The Arabic Tract mentioned in the last Report is completed. It contains Ostervald's Compendium of Scripture History, his Dialogue on the principal Doctrines of Christianity, with the Lord's Prayer and Ten Commandments. The Dialogue being defective with respect to the important doctrines of the Atonement and Justification, those subjects have been added.

Professor Macbride has had the kindness to carry through the Clarendon Press, on behalf of the Society, a revised edition of Pococke's Arabic Version of Grotius on the Truth of the Christian Religion. A thousand copies have been printed.

A young Clergyman, a Member of the Society, whose state of health requires a suspension of his ministerial labours, has devoted himself, with great zeal and intelligence, to the preparation of Tracts adapted for the use of the Society. One of these, entitled "The Way of Truth and Life," is already completed, and has been translated into Arabic, and is begun in Persian, by the Society's Orientalist. It is a lucid exhibition of the Way of Truth and Life, adapted to the mode of thinking among Mahometans and Heathens, chiefly by large extracts from Scripture, which are so connected and illustrated as to explain one another, and to elucidate the actual condition of mankind.

Other Tracts are in preparation by the same means. Those already completed, and such as may follow, will be put into circulation from Malta, from the Society's stations in the East, in West Africa, and in other places as opportunities may offer.

The Committee have thus closed their review of the Society's Exertions. They will now advert to those LABOURERS in this sacred cause, who are preparing for their future employ.

The Committee had too often to complain, in past years, that so few offered themselves to this service. They have now to report, that the number of candidates is so great, that they do not feel themselves warranted, even by the present flourishing state of the funds, to embrace all the desirable offers of service which are made to them.

The Rev. Messrs. Norton, Greenwood, and Schroeter, are waiting, as has been said, for their passage to India, and the Rev. J. W. Schulze and his wife, for Africa.

It would have been gratifying to the Committee to have taken their last farewell of the Indian Missionaries at this Meeting: but the expected departure of their ship would not allow of their leaving Portsmouth.

The Rev. Deocar Schmid is arrived from Germany, to prepare as a Missionary for India, by perfecting his oriental studies. As he is present, the Committee will not say more respecting him, than that they have reason to form confident hopes, that he will prove a worthy companion of his Brethren.

Nine English Students are preparing for Holy Orders: some of whom are on the point of entering on their Ministry; and all, if God shall spare them, will, in due time, take their share in the labours of the Society's Missionaries. One of them freely devotes the income of a fortune, lately come into his possession, and nearly adequate to his support, to ease the Funds of the Society.

Three Laymen, two of whom are married, are, with their wives, preparing to proceed to Africa as Schoolmasters and Schoolmistresses, in order to set the Missionaries at liberty for that exercise of their Ministry, for which they have ardently longed, and for which their way is now better prepared among the Natives.

In these prospects of aid your Committee rejoice. Yet they cannot but renew their call on the younger part of the Clergy, to turn their minds to the serious consideration of the wants and miseries of the Heathen. Let them hear the declarations of Marsden, and of Thompson, and of Thomason, and of Corrie: and let them rival the sacred zeal of those holy men for the honour of their Divine Master. While the Society is driven to long and circuitous methods of forming the English Missionary, its exertions are cramped and narrowed: yet your Committee will persevere. They cannot, however, but fervently hope and pray, that it will please God to call forth one, and another, and another of his servants, from their labours at home, until the labourers in his Foreign Vineyard are swelled to a great multitude.

Your Committee recal to the recollection of the Meeting, with feelings of sincere affection, the removal to a better world of two distinguished members of the Society—Thornton and Buchanan: the Society's early friends, its wise counsellors, and its able advocates—the friends of Africa—the friends of India—the friends of Man—the friends of God!

Your Committee propose to the Meeting that the Funds of the Society be still associated with the name of Thornton; and that John Thornton, Esq. be requested to take charge of that Sacred Treasure—the rapid advance of which his revered relative witnessed before his departure with exultation.

For a Buchanan we shall look around in vain. Rarely does the Sun of Righteousness reflect his own beams on this dreary world from so bright a luminary! Holding his serene and steady course across our heavens, he burst forth from behind the clouds which prejudice or malevolence might raise, and passed, too swiftly for us, into a brighter world, blessing, with his last mild ray, the benighted soul of man!

The Society feebly expressed its gratitude to Dr. Buchanan for the eminent services rendered by him to its designs, by placing him among its Honorary Life Governors. Your Committee have a similar debt to discharge to other friends. After what has been reported to the Meeting of the important services rendered by them to the Society, it will be prepared to hear with approbation, that the following Clergymen have been appointed Honorary Life Governors of this Institution—

The Rev. William Goode.
The Rev. Daniel Wilson.
The Rev. Thomas T. Biddulph, of Bristol.
The Rev. Edward Burn, of Birmingham.
The Rev. Samuel Marsden, Principal Chaplain of New South Wales.
The Rev. Thomas T. Thomason, Chaplain at Calcutta.
The Rev. Daniel Corrie, Chaplain at Agra.
The Rev. Marmaduke Thompson, Chaplain at Madras.

Your Committee cannot conclude, without again adverting to the extraordinary character of those times in which we live. It is an honour to be born in days, which prophets and righteous men might have desired to see; but it is a higher honour to be made to feel the great responsibility under which we are laid in such days as ours, and to labour to act up to our obligations.

Why has this nation stood like a rock, while the waves have assaulted her on every side? And what hope can we have that she will still stand impregnable, whatever furious storms may yet assail her?—She has been great in her sufferings! Her Christians have raised her to a high character. She has looked beyond herself. She has been the asylum of suffering man. And the days of her deepest calamity, and of her fiercest conflicts, have witnessed the rise of more Institutions to bless the world, than ever rose in any nation. Nor, while she thus proceeds, is it according to the course of the Divine Dispensations, that she should perish? God has mercy for her in reserve. We gather encouragement this day. The zeal of heart which glows in the countenances of such assembled multitudes, strengthens our hope and our prayer, that our dear country may become the Great Evangelist of the Nations. She reigns in the hearts of the good and the virtuous throughout the world. Thousands on thousands of thanksgivings daily ascend to Heaven, from hearts grateful to her for the gift of the Divine Word, and for the proclamation of Divine Mercy; and prayer without ceasing is made unto God for her preservation.

Blessed be His name for her re-union with her once unnatural children—achieved under the anxious labours of One, ever most dear to this Institution and to the Christian World. May Britain and America know no other rivalry than the rivalry of Christian Efforts to bless the world! May that pure and holy Faith, which is the great glory of their names, be propagated by them wheresoever their influence extends!—and may that happy day dawn on our own eyes when all nations

"Shall hail the Saviour's power,
And crown Immanuel King."

Regulations of the Hibernian Auxiliary Church Missionary Society.

AT a numerous and respectable Meeting of persons friendly to the objects of "The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East," held at the Rotunda, in Dublin, on Wednesday, 22d June, 1814;

The Right Honourable the LORD MAYOR in the Chair;

The Rev. Josiah Pratt, Secretary of the Society, and the Rev. Daniel Wilson, a Member of the Committee, having detailed its objects and proceedings, the following Resolutions were unanimously adopted:—

On the motion of the Right Hon. the Earl of Gosford, seconded by the Rev. B. W. Mathias,

Resolved, I.—That the object, constitution, and proceedings of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, have the cordial approbation of this Meeting; and that a Society be therefore now formed in this city, for the purpose of aiding and co-operating with the said Institution; and that it be styled, "The Hibernian Church Missionary Society, Auxiliary to the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East," and that the following be the Regulations of the Society:

1. Every person subscribing or collecting annually the sum of one guinea, or upwards, shall be deemed a Member of this Society, during the continuance of such subscription or collection.

2. Every person giving a benefaction of ten guineas, or upwards, shall be a Member for life.

3. Every Clergyman subscribing half a guinea annually, shall be considered a Member; and every Clergyman, on contributing a congregational collection, to the amount of twenty guineas, either at once or several times, shall also be considered a Member.

4. Every person subscribing five guineas annually, shall be a Governor during the continuance of such subscription.

5. Every person subscribing fifty pounds at one time, or who shall, by one additional payment, increase his original subscription to that sum, shall be a Governor for Life.

6. The business of this Society shall be under the management of a Patron, Vice-Patrons, a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, Secretaries, Governors, and a Committee, consisting of twenty-four Lay Members of the Established Church, and of all Clergymen who shall be Members of the Society: the office of Patron shall be appropriated to the Members of the Royal Family, or the Representative of the King in this Country: Vice-Patrons shall be appointed exclusively, from among the Peers, spiritual and temporal; and the President shall be such Peer or Commoner, and the Vice-Presidents such Commoners as shall be appointed thereto: the Committee shall meet on the first Thursday in January, March, May, July, September, and November, and at such other times as they may deem necessary; five Members constituting a quorum.

7. The Committee of Laymen, together with the Treasurer and Secretaries, shall be elected annually, by a majority of the Members present at a General Meeting; and a Collector be appointed by the Committee, and any other assistance procured which may be found necessary.

8. The Governors and Members of the Society shall be furnished annually with the Reports of this Society, and with those of the Parent Institution; and such persons as shall collect to the amount of one shilling, or upward, per week, shall also receive a copy of each Monthly Number of the Missionary Register.

9. The object of the Committee shall be, to call forth and direct the zeal of well-disposed persons in Ireland, and more particularly that of the Members of the Established Church, in support of the plans and proceedings of the Church Missionary Society; and, for this end, constant attention shall be paid to the diffusion of information, the establishment of Associations, the obtaining of contributions, and the procuring of proper persons to be recommended as Missionaries to the Church Missionary Society: all contributions to be transmitted by the Treasurer of the Society, after the payment of incidental expenses, to the Secretary of the "Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East," at the Society's House in London.

10. Governors and Members of such Associations as may be formed in aid of this Society, shall be considered as Governors and Members of the said Society; it being understood that Governors and Members of the Hibernian Auxiliary will be considered, ipso facto, to stand in the same relation to the Parent Society.

11. A separate fund shall be opened, in support of the separate School Fund of the Church Missionary Society, for the establishment of Schools among the Heathen, and in the Foreign Possessions of the Crown.

12. The Committee shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Members for Life or Governers for Life.

13. Governors shall be entitled to attend and vote at all meetings of the General Committee.

14. A General Meeting of the Subscribers to this Society shall be held every year, in the same week in which the Annual Meeting of the Hibernian Bible Society shall be held, the day to be appointed by the Committee: ten days' notice of such meeting shall be given in the public newspapers; and the Committee shall then deliver a written Report of their proceedings, and of the state of the Society, together with an audited account, and such observations as they shall think fit.

On the motion of the Right Hon. Mr. Justice Daly, seconded by the Rev. Wm. Atthill, M. A. Rector of Fintona, Resolved, II.—That the centre of the operations of the said Society be in Dublin; and that it extend itself throughout Ireland, as opportunities may offer, by Associations, to be denominated "Church Missionary Associations, in aid of the Hibernian Auxiliary Church Missionary Society."

On the motion of Alexander Hamilton, Esq. seconded by the Rev. George Hamilton, M. A. Rector of Killermogh, Resolved, III.—That it be recommended to all the Members of this Society, to promote the Collection of Weekly and Monthly Contributions, in their respective circles; this plan being adapted to awaken a general interest in favour of the Society's objects, and to supply steady and increasing contributions to the funds.

On the motion of the Rev. Robert Daly, Rector of Powerscourt, seconded by Paulus Æmilius Singer, Esq.

Resolved, IV. That the Right Hon Lord Viscount Lorton, having obligingly accepted the office of a Vice-Patron, and the President of this Society, the respectful and cordial thanks of this Meeting be presented to his Lordship for the same.

On the motion of Major-general Trotter, seconded by the Rev. James Dunne, M. A. Rector of Delgany, Resolved, V.—That the following Noblemen be requested to accept the office of Vice-Patrons:

Most Noble the Marquis of Downshire.
Right Hon. the Earl of Westmeath.
Right Hon. the Earl of Charlemont.
Right Hon. the Earl of Desart.

John David Latouche, Esq.	Mathias Woodmason, Esq.

On the motion of the Rev. Robert Shaw, Vicar of St. John's, Kilkenny, seconded by Thomas Parnell, Esq.

Resolved, VIII. That the thanks of this Meeting be given to the Rev. Josiah Pratt, Secretary of the Church Missionary Society, and to his Friends, the Rev. Daniel Wilson and the Rev. William Jowett, for the assistance afforded by them in the formation of the Hibernian Church Missionary Society.

The thanks of the Meeting were acknowledged by the Rev. W. Jowett, in his own name and that of his Friends.

On the motion of Richard Phayre, Esq. seconded by Arthur Guinness, Esq.

Resolved, IX.—That these Resolutions be inserted in the principal Irish Newspapers; that copies of them, signed by the Chairman, be transmitted to the President of the Parent Society; to the President of this Society, and to its Vice-Patrons and Vice-Presidents; and that books, for inserting the names of Subscribers, be left at the different Banks in Dublin.

The Chairman having left the Chair, which was taken by the Right Hon. the Earl of Gosford, on the motion of Arthur Guinness, Esq. seconded by William Disney, Esq.

It was Resolved, That the thanks of this Meeting be presented to the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, for his able and dignified conduct in the Chair.

Ladies' Dublin Church Missionary Association, in aid of the Hibernian Auxiliary Church Missionary Society.

Patroness—Right Hon. Viscountess Lifford.

APPENDIX II.

Memorials presented to the Right Honourable Earl Bathurst, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Department of War and Colonies, by the Church Missionary Society, and by his Excellency Governor Maxwell.

Memorial of the Church of England Missionary Society for Africa and the East.

Humbly sheweth—

THAT your Memorialists are truly grateful for the kind and condescending manner in which your Lordship received a Deputation from their Society on certain important questions connected therewith, and that, availing themselves of your Lordship's permission, they now state the objects whereon their Deputation had the honour of an interview with your Lordship, earnestly intreating your Lordship's powerful support of them, on the ground of maintaining those views which the Legislature of the Country has, in its wisdom, adopted for the preservation of its best interests in Africa, and towards the religious and moral improvement of such of the Natives as may be induced to place themselves under the British Protection within the District of Sierra Leone.

First. The construction of a Place of Worship at Sierra Leone, for the Colony, now consisting of nearly ten thousand souls; and, in the event of an increased population, probably another may be required, each of which, on as accurate a calculation as circumstances will admit, may be estimated at 5,000 Guineas.

Second. The present salary of £.300 per annum now allowed by Government to the Chaplain of the Settlement, to be increased to £.500 per annum; as no reasonable supposition can be entertained, that, for an inferior salary, any Clergyman of the Church of England can be induced to engage in the important duties required of him in such a Settlement, under the circumstances of insalubrious climate, &c.; and, further, that such Chaplain, after a residence of ten years in the Colony, should be permitted to return to his native country on a half-pay of £.250 per annum, provided he is furnished with sufficient testimonals from the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor in his absence) touching the manner in which he has discharged the duties of his office; and that, during his residence in the Colony, he should be provided with a house suited to his office and station.

Thirdly. As the Church Missionary Society proposes, so far as its Funds may enable it, to erect Buildings, and provide proper School Masters, at its own expence, for the purposes of the religious and moral instruction in the useful occupations of life, of those African Children or Adults now in Sierra Leone, who have been or may hereafter be captured in Slave Ships, and for whose use Government now issues a supply of clothing and rations, the Society requests a continuance of such supplies while the above persons are under its care; not doubting but that, in the course of a short time, Government will be materially relieved from the expence, in consequence of the habits of industry, which, under the Divine Blessing, it will be the object of the Society to inculcate.

Fourthly. A Letter to the Governor of Sierra Leone generally commendatory of the interests of the Society, and to afford them his protection.

And, your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Signed, on behalf and by order, of the Committee of the Church Missionary Society,

JOSIAH PRATT, B. D.
Secretary.

Church Missionary House,
Salisbury Square,
Fleet Street,
December 5th, 1814.

Memorial of Governor Maxwell.

In the present situation of the Colony of Sierra Leone, the Inhabitants and Residents are absolutely destitute of the means of attending Public Worship, or of receiving religious instruction according to the Ritual and Doctrines of the Established Church. It is true that a salary has been allotted for the office of Chaplain to the Settlement; but, from its first colonization down to the present day, no Clergymen has been found willing to accept the situation: so that, in point of fact, no public provision whatever has been made for the exercise or dissemination of religion, nor any opportunity afforded for any description of its observances, but what has been supplied by the Missionaries of the Church Missionary Society.

Of the expediency of introducing the Offices and Worship of the Church in a British Colony, it is humbly presumed that there can be no doubt: and, when it is considered that Sierra Leone has already a numerous population, which is evidently increasing with rapidity, its claims upon the Mother Country for an Establishment, which may secure the exercise and diffusion of Religion, and all the incalculable benefits flowing therefrom, appears obvious and indisputable: a claim, which is further strengthened by the peculiar situation of the Colony, as the principal settlement of Great Britain throughout the whole extent of the Western Coast of Africa, and the point from which must issue every attempt to improve the religious and moral condition of the natives of that vast Peninsula.

The accomplishment of the important object adverted to, must, it is conceived, depend on two circumstances, viz. the erection of a church; and the endowment of the office of Chaplain on such a footing, as will afford an adequate inducement to a respectable Clergyman to expose himself to the perils of a long residence in an unhealthy climate. With respect to the latter consideration, perhaps the most effectual encouragement would be held out, if a decent provision, in the way of retirement, should be secured after a service of a given period of years; though, it might also be expedient to increase the amount of the present annual salary. It cannot be supposed, but that, with a compensation thus proportioned to the sacrifice to be made and the dangers to be encountered, a clerical character, adapted to the wants and situation of the Colony, might readily be found for its service.

The propriety of building a Church must follow almost as a necessary consequence if the expediency of providing for the introduction of the Rites and Doctrines of the Establishment be admitted. The possession of such an edifice in the Colony would be attended with incalculable benefit; inasmuch as it would constitute an attraction towards the regular and habitual performance of the duty of Public Devotion; and present the means for the diffusion of religious instruction, far exceeding what could be expected to be derived from places of a less appropriate character. The expence of constructing such a building need not be great; and it may be presumed, that his Majesty's Government would be induced to countenance its erection, in consideration of the important nature of the objects to whose attainment it would be so eminently subservient.

(Signed) CHARLES WILL. MAXWELL.

APPENDIX III.

Address to the Rev. JOHN CHRISTOPHER SPERRHACKEN, the Rev. JOHN HENRY SCHULZE, and others, about to proceed to Western Africa; contained in a Sermon delivered before the Society, at St. Bride's Church, Fleet Street, November 10, 1814, by the Rev. DANIEL WILSON, M. A.

I TURN to you, my Brethren, who are about to proceed to strengthen our establishments in Africa, and beg leave, with unfeigned diffidence and affection, to suggest to you a few topics, in addition to those which the language of the text has already led me to offer to your consideration.

Allow me, first, to remind you of the necessity of considering yourselves as an ENTIRE SACRIFICE to your arduous enterprize. You must look upon yourselves as separated and dedicated to the energies of your high vocation. You are to be self-annihilated. You must "sit down and deliberately count the cost" of the vast design. You must regard every thing as given up. The most ardent zeal is little, without a calm comprehensive view of what is before you. The language of our Saviour can alone express what I mean: If any man come unto me, and hate not his father and mother, and wife and children, and brethren and sisters, yea and HIS OWN LIFE also, he cannot be my disciple. I am persuaded, Brethren, that this is your fixed resolve, in dependance on the grace of God. Let then your whole scheme and project rest upon it. A mind, not only perfectly disinterested as to any secular motive, for that topic I should be ashamed to notice, but prepared for privation, delay, disappointment, suffering—a mind ready, if you should even be called to be offered on the service of your faith, to rejoice, like the Apostle, in the sacrifice, is quite essential to the success of your undertaking. Let sickness and death in their most complicated forms be ever in your eye, and form a part of your plan; and your holy courage will be of the right temperature for the warfare upon which you are entering.

Permit me to recommend to you, in the next place, A HIGH CONCEPTION OF THE IMPORTANCE OF THE OBJECT, to which you are devoted. No man ever acted greatly in difficult circumstances whose soul was not filled with elevated impressions of the cause which he served. This nerves the arm of the warrior: this, sanctified by the spirit of Christianity, inspires the resolution of the martyr. It was the joy which was set before him, which animated even our suffering Lord. Rise then, Brethren, to the dignity of your calling. If there be any true magnanimity in man, it is that which leads him to think and act and suffer greatly in so good a cause. Conceive only aright of this, and you will learn to look down with indifference on all the pursuits you have relinquished. The Missionary treads the highest walk of human effort. He unites the most heroic with the most tender qualities of our nature. Contemplate, then, the unutterable value of immortal souls: view the lost and perishing state of the heathen world: consider the brief, and uncertain, and degrading nature of all earthly things: be penetrated with a lively conception of the glories of an eternal state: remember the majesty and grace of the God whom you serve: call to mind the infinite condescension of the Redeemer, whose cross you go forth to proclaim: think frequently of the mighty operation of that Holy Spirit on whose aid you rely: bear in mind the promises of the future glory of the church by which you are animated: look forward to the consequences of that eternal bliss which you may be the means of communicating—and you will learn, with the Apostle, to esteem it the highest distinction that God could confer on you, that this grace should be given unto you to preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ.

But to these elevated views, you will, I am assured, perceive the necessity of uniting UNFEIGNED HUMILITY AND LOVE. Your sacred undertaking will only be retarded by forwardness and impetuosity. The spirit of a teacher often does as much as his matter. Benevolence is an universal language understood every where. Humility and love are the characteristics of Christianity. They are the parents of every other grace. Be ye then clothed with humility; and Put on, above all things, charity, which is the bond of perfectness. These will tend to produce in your whole conduct, that mutual submission without which there can only be confusion and every evil work. These will lead you to condescend one to another; to be willing to do any service, however menial, which may forward your great design; to let go strife, before it be meddled with; to guard against the risings of unholy tempers; to abhor flattery and self-conceit; to avoid a positive and dogmatical spirit; to cultivate the most tender sympathy towards others; to aim at healing any wound which may be inflicted; and, in a word, to follow the steps of our Divine Lord, who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously. On the contrary, pride hardens the heart, separates from the love of God and man, indisposes for bearing the cross, makes way for every possible temptation, magnifies the slightest incident into an occasion of coldness or indignation, and is utterly ruinous to every feeling and duty of a true Missionary.

For the strengthening of these graces in your minds, suffer me to remind you of the supreme importance of THE LOVE OF CHRIST, as the ruling motive of your conduct. There is no principle that can animate you in the habitual discharge of the duties of your important work, but the love, the constraining love of a dying Saviour. May the Spirit of God fill your hearts with this holy affection! That month, that week, that day, which passes over you without affecting views of the Cross of Christ, is not only a period of time lost to your high efforts, but positively injurious to all your capacities for real service. The incarnation and death of Immanuel, God with Us, is the most stupendous theme that men or angels can contemplate. His infinite condescension, his inconceivable sufferings, his unutterable agony, his ignominious death; the love he has borne to man, the work he has undertaken, the atonement he has made, the everlasting righteousness which he has brought in, the reconciliation founded on his mediation and death; the mysteries of his redemption, the depths of his mercy, the glories of his power; these, these are the topics which transform and support the soul. These bring the captive in delightful bonds to his Saviour's feet. These lead man beyond himself. These make him count all things but loss for the excellency of such a knowledge. These inspire him with a restless anxiety that Christ may be magnified in his body whether by life or by death. All that ever has been done, or ever will be done with effect, in the cause of missions, has flowed from this pure and exalted source.

Will you pardon me, however, if I proceed to notice the necessity of PURSUING OUT ALL THE GREAT PRINCIPLES OF RELIGION INTO THE MOST MINUTE PRACTICAL CONSEQUENCES. The warmest emotions are chiefly valuable in this view. If they agitate the mind merely, and are not made to bear on all the parts of your spirit and conduct, they will soon lose their purity and force. In no manner are we more subject to be deceived than in being seduced to rely on those high principles and affections which fill the mind, without a scrupulous solicitude to trace them out into that silent and unostentatious practice of the innumerable minor points of morals, which make up the far larger portion of our lives, and in fact stamp our real characters. The Love of Christ, for example, which we have just noticed, must be brought into the detail of our duties, and be employed as the inspiring motive of our most ordinary actions. The principle of Faith should be exercised in the constantly recurring occasions where a distrust of God's word or providence or grace, may enfeeble or retard our efforts. The doctrine of Obedience to God's commands is not to be viewed in the mass only, or applied to the more ostensible branches of sanctification, but to be accurately understood in all its parts, and perpetually admitted as the rule of our conduct. Humility, charity, patience, hope, meekness, compassion, hatred of sin, self-denial, gratitude, forgiveness of injuries, and every other division of practical religion, is to be regarded in a similar manner. The result of this important habit will be an encreasing consistency of character, a wakeful and tender conscientiousness of spirit, an avoiding of the very appearance of evil, a scrupulous examination of our daily conduct, an enlightened circumspection, a holy distrust of ourselves, an openness to admonition, a constant course of contrition before God, and the cheerful discharge of our duty before men. Whereas any considerable neglect of it will efface all the tenderness of our religious feelings, will grieve the Holy Spirit of God, will dry up the living fountain of piety in the heart, will leave us exposed to the very first assault of Satan, will produce a negligent and careless temper, will increase unto more ungodliness. Powerful principles of religion must not be allowed to roll by in a grand but comparatively useless torrent, but, like the exuberant inundations of the Nile, must be made to visit and enrich every part of the adjacent lands, must be employed to replenish the canals and reservoirs prepared for their reception, must be permitted to rest till they penetrate deep below the surface, and thus diffuse a new beauty and life and fertility wherever they flow.

I am ashamed thus to multiply remarks, which I am persuaded will occur to your own minds. You will bear with me, however, while I just caution you in a particular manner against THE FIRST APPROACHES OF WORLDLINESS OF MIND AND SENSUALITY. You will be in the utmost danger from these enemies. Others, who once went forth with the best promise, have fallen into the fatal snare. You will have need of constant vigilance to guard against their almost imperceptible advances. They are allied forces. A secular spirit is that into which we are ever prone to decline. The small concerns connected with a mission, the necessary arrangements of your families, the intercourse with the natives for the supply of your wants, your own personal comforts, may and will betray you into a worldly temper of heart, if you do not unremittingly pray and watch against the danger. The attacks of this foe will be more by subtilty than open assault, more by things lawful than by those which are in themselves unlawful, more by small and unnoticed circumstances than by great and important ones, more by occasions which perpetually surround you than by events of infrequent occurrence, more by silent and wearisome solicitation than by hasty and bold importunity. Against such a foe, I need not point out to you the necessity of ceaseless circumspection, especially as it never fails to prepare the way for the enticements of SENSUALITY—a vice to which the manners of a barbarous people will fearfully expose you. The utmost efforts of self-controul, the greatest caution in your intercourse with the natives, a perpetual restraint upon your appetites, a careful and even scrupulous avoiding of all improper or suspicious situations, a constant check on the first risings of vanity, indulgence, levity, and sloth, a studious imitation of the pure and holy example of our Lord and Saviour, with an humble dependance on the Spirit of purity and grace, are amongst the most obvious precautions on a topic, which nothing but its supreme importance would have induced me even thus briefly to notice.

I will only remind you further of the necessity of REPOSING ALL YOUR TRUST IN THE GRACE AND POWER OF GOD.

Any hints, which I may have already suggested to you, are to be considered as subservient to this. You are to go forth, strong in the Lord and in the power of his might. If you had remained at home, this must have been your only confidence; and now that you are about to meet new and accumulated trials abroad, you are to be directed to no other resource. Nor can you need any other. Whatever you may want for your personal duties as men, whatever you may require for your missionary efforts, whatever you may need for the success which is to crown both, the omnipotent grace of God in Christ Jesus can more than supply. Let your faith then be intently fixed on this consoling topic. Be ye faithful unto death, and you shall receive the crown of life. The time is short. The voyage of life will soon be over. The swelling surge will ere long cease to beat, and the peaceful haven will stretch itself before you. Your patient labours may possibly be blessed far beyond your expectation. If you should only sow the seed of that harvest, which others may hereafter gather in, you will look forward with delight to the hour, when both he that soweth and he that reapeth shall rejoice together. Endure then as seeing Him who is invisible. Contemplate that crown of righteousness, which shall one day rest on your head. Remember that they that be wise shall shine as the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever. Anticipate the transport of that last plaudit of the conquering Christian, Well done, good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.

And now, beloved Brethren and Sisters in Christ, I bid you farewell. You, my REVEREND FRIENDS IN THE SACRED MINISTRY *, are going out in the direct character of Missionaries. Watch you, then, in all things: do the work of evangelists: make full proof of your ministry. Study deeply the Holy Scriptures. Let your doctrine shew uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity. When you have the opportunity of instructing the Heathen, stand on the plain broad footing of undoubted truth. Forget the unhappy controversies which have divided the church at home. Let your minds be daily nourished with the pure and wholesome doctrine of Scripture, as it flows native and transparent from the comb, and not as it is sullied and adulterated by human systems, on whatever side they may incline. Let the cross of Christ, in all the amplitude of that astonishing subject, be your theme. Descend not to uncertain topics. Do not administer to your inexperienced flock doubtful disputations, nostrums, obscurities, which amaze the mind without affecting the heart, which disturb and bewilder but seldom convince, which may raise up a partizan, but cannot form the truly contrite and holy disciple of Christ. May the Spirit of God direct and sanctify your labours! May converts spring up to you as the grass, as willows by the water-courses! May one say, I am the Lord's; and another call himself by the name of Jacob; and another subscribe with his hand to the Lord, and surname himself by the name of Israel!

You, MY RESPECTED SISTER*, who are now returning, under peculiar circumstances, to the country from which your state of health required you to retire; be assured you share our tenderest sympathy, and shall have the benefit of our most fervent prayers. We enter into all your feelings. We commend you to the grace and compassion of that Saviour who raised the weeping Mary from his feet. We implore of God to endue you with the peculiar consolations of his Spirit! May you adorn your Christian profession with the meekness and quietness of spirit, which in the sight of God is of great price. May the tender and retiring virtues, which are the peculiar ornament of the female character, make you an example to the unhappy women whom you will behold ignorant, degraded, and oppressed on every side of you. May you look back with pleasure throughout your future life, on the transaction of this day, when, like the holy women of old, you have come forward to minister to the necessities of the church, and to present with a trembling hand, under discouragement and sorrow, your tribute of service at the footstool of that Redeemer who will not fail to smile on your efforts, and accept your offering of love.

I turn to you, my Christian friends, who are going out in the important situation of SCHOOLMASTER AND SCHOOLMISTRESS†. The charge of the young will be especially entrusted to your care. Your duties will be only second to those of the Missionary. I affectionately wish you farewell. May the gracious Saviour who received children, took them up in his arms and blessed them, prosper your instructions! May the African youth learn, under your parental kindness, the knowledge of themselves, and of Jesus Christ their Lord. Your responsibility is as great, as the prospect of usefulness which opens before you. May the abundant mercy of God rest upon you! May submission to those who are placed over you, diligence in your calling, zeal in promoting the true interests of the mission, vigilance against mercenary motives, and an uniform and humble conscientiousness, mark and adorn your characters. Thus will you be happy in yourselves, a blessing to the Heathen, and a support to the Mission to which you are about to be attached!

And you, MY YOUNG AFRICAN BROTHER*, who are returning to your native land after a series of remarkable events, I trust you will aim at making some returns to that God, who has so distinguished you by his mercy, by your whole future conduct. Go, and shew to your countrymen the graces and virtues of a Christian. Go, and endeavour to recommend the sacred knowledge which you have received. Go, and let Africa see what the religion of Christ can do in elevating and blessing mankind. Our best wishes and prayers shall rest upon you. May God be gracious to you! May you become a truly humble, enlightened, established Christian! May your connection with Britons be ever a source of grateful thanksgiving! May you act in a submissive, modest, faithful manner in the new relation to our Mission which you are about to sustain! And may mercy and truth be with you!

Finally, my Christian Brethren, we commend you to God, and to the word of his grace. Wherever you may go, be assured our unfeigned prayers and affections will go with you. Under all removes, all dangers, all distresses, there is an EYE, before which there is no difference of place, but all lies open in boundless and incomprehensible prospect: there is an ARM by which all nature is held together, and to which every thing is equally easy. To that eye, to that arm we commit you. To the Omnipotent Jehovah, who hath stretched forth the heavens and laid the foundations of the earth, and said unto Zion, Thou art my people, we confidently entrust you. To that ALMIGHTY FATHER, who hath not spared his own Son, but delivered him up for us all; to that ADORABLE SAVIOUR, who hath taken upon himself the seed of Abraham, and purchased his church with his own blood; to that ETERNAL SPIRIT, the Comforter who sanctifieth us and all the elect people of God, we solemnly devote you; in your bodies and in your souls; most fervently praying that, in every future moment of emergency, whilst separate from each other, the last consoling accents of our Lord Christ may animate and revive your hearts: "LO, I AM WITH YOU ALWAYS, EVEN UNTO THE END OF THE WORLD." Amen.

Instructions from the Committee to the Rev. JOHN CHRISTOPHER SPERRHACKEN and the Rev. JOHN HENRY SCHULZE, with other persons attached to the Society's Missions in West Africa: delivered by the Secretary, at a Meeting of the Committee, held at the House of the Society, Nov. 10, 1814.

MAJOR-GENERAL CHARLES NEVILLE, Vice-President, in the Chair.

Dearly Beloved in the Lord—

IT is now little more than two years since the Society dismissed to their labours in Africa the Rev. Leopold Butscher, with eight other persons attached to its Missions in that quarter. In steady pursuit of that first and great design of the Society—the remunerating of Western Africa, by the gift of Christianity with all its attendant blessings, for the enormous wrongs so long inflicted on her by British Inhumanity and Avarice—with this object ever in its eye, the Society sent forth Mr. Butscher and his companions to strengthen the hands of his brethren in Africa. But the hopes which were cherished on that occasion have been, in a great measure, disappointed. The Society had prepared three Laymen to exercise useful trades for the benefit of the natives: of these men two, with their wives, have departed this life; not so much through the unavoidable insalubrity of the climate, as from a state of health and constitution which would have proved equally fatal, perhaps, elsewhere, without special care and watchfulness.

Severe trials befel, indeed, this body of Missionaries before they reached their destination. The shipwreck of the vessel in which they sailed exposed their lives to danger, and greatly retarded the execution of the Society's plans.

The conflict, too, which has been maintained in Africa, between the officers of his Majesty in the strenuous exercise of their duty, and the secret encouragers of the Slave Trade, has exposed the Missionaries and Settlements of the Society to gross calumnies and to midnight revenge. Fire has been kindled over the heads of the little children in one of the settlements, but was providentially discovered in time to effect the escape of all who dwelt there.

When to these circumstances are added the difficulties which the expected revival of the French Slave Trade will oppose to our exertions, you may be tempted to inquire, why you are sent forth at a period so critical, and whether it would not be prudent to suspend the efforts of the Society in Africa, till the dark clouds which lour over the prospect are scattered.

We answer, No!—the efforts of Christian Mercy must not wait on the councils of man! We are engaged in the noblest project which can enter into the heart! We admire the men who, under the Divine Blessing, have conquered and are giving a peace to the nations—however feverish and insecure that peace may be rendered by the vices of man—but we are engaged in a far nobler war! we wrestle against the rulers of the darkness of this world, in the very seat of their cruel tyranny! we are fighting for the liberation of their wretched slaves from the most debasing thraldom—for a peace which passeth understanding—for a title to an inheritance incorruptible, undefiled, and that fadeth not away!

And, in this struggle, we are confident of victory. Such efforts as those in which we are engaged—the efforts of Christians to meliorate the condition of their fellow-men on this side the grave, and to open to them the prospect of life everlasting, have the Divine Blessing secured to them by unfailing promises.

Were it, indeed, now the question before the Society, whether it would choose this particular moment to make its first attempts in Africa, this might deserve to become a subject of grave deliberation. But this is not the question. We entered on this design in times of peril. They were fearful days for that wretched coast, when the trade in our fellow-men was a trade authorized by British Laws. We have survived those days: nor can we doubt that we shall survive and triumph over every other evil which may threaten us.

It is true that this nation is suspected and calumniated in perhaps the noblest national act which she ever performed: and these suspicions and calumnies are propagated by men, who have either had sufficient opportunities of ascertaining in that act her real magnanimity, or should have been taught by their own sufferings the lesson of gratitude to their deliverer and of mercy to the oppressed. But the Nation must act herein as a Christian Nation, and, by well doing, put to silence the ignorance of foolish men!

It is true, moreover, that our efforts are returned back on us with violence and ingratitude: but the African Chiefs will, ere long, become enlightened to their true interests. They will expel from their shores those inhuman advisers, whose counsels keep Africa in bonds while we invite her to be free! The protection of the Chiefs, secured by their Children being entrusted to our Missionaries, though not seldom on the point of yielding to the violence or wicked arts of others, has not been withdrawn; and has been confirmed, in circumstances of imminent danger, by the manly interference of one, whose name deserves to be mentioned with peculiar honour, Mr. William Fernandez, Chief on the Rio Dembia, in whose territories the Gambier Settlement has been established.

The Christian Education of nearly two hundred African Children—the effect of the marriages which are now beginning to take place among the young persons educated by the Society, in weaning the natives from polygamy, in raising the female character to higher estimation, and in the increase of domestic comfort—the preparation of elementary books, and of the Scriptures in the native tongues, which is proceeding with success—the erection of churches, and the proclaiming to the natives the glad tidings of salvation—these things furnish abundant encouragement to believe that we are acting, and shall continue to act, under the Divine Blessing.

We have spoken the more largely on these topics, because the circumstances under which you are going forth are peculiar.

You will find in the Addresses delivered to our former Missionaries, by the late Rev. John Venn, the Rev. Thomas Scott, the Rev. Henry Budd, and the Rev. Dr. Buchanan, so full a developement of your duties, your difficulties, and your encouragements, that it has not been thought requisite to assemble the Society together at this time for the purpose of instructing you at large on those topics. You are desired to read over those Addresses repeatedly and with care; and to consider them as directed to yourselves, so far as they shall be found suitable to the circumstances in which you may be placed. And the Commitee do especially enjoin you to treasure up in your hearts those admonitions and exhortations which have been this morning so feelingly addressed to you from the pulpit, at their request, by the Rev. Daniel Wilson.

A passage has been engaged for you on board the Willding, Capt William Gibson, direct for Sierra Leone. An investment of stores, to a very considerable amount, will be put on board for the support of the Settlements, and for your accommodation and comfort. You will proceed to Portsmouth or Plymouth, as the case may require, and will be accompanied thither by the Secretary, or by one of his Assistants, who will do every thing in his power for your convenience and accommodation.

During the voyage, you, who are Ministers, will maintain daily worship among yourselves, and the regular administration of the Word on Sundays, and at other times, as opportunities may occur.

You, Mr. Sperrhacken and Mr. Schulze, are sent forth by us to strengthen the hands of your brethren in Africa, in their endeavours to enlighten the natives with the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. On your arrival at Sierra Leone, you will confer with Mr. Butscher on the most promising sphere of usefulness. Should any opening present itself which shall appear to you and to him remarkably promising, we would have you embrace it.

Our views respecting you are these:

We wish Mr. Nyländer's efforts among the Bulloms to be extended; and, if no peculiar circumstances should call for any other destination, we wish you, Mr. Sperrhacken, to settle without delay at Yongroo, with Mr. Nyländer, in order to the acquisition of the Bullom Tongue, and that you may render all the assistance in your power to his exertions among that people, with the view of ultimately forming yourself another Settlement in their territory. The elementary books in the Bullom Language which Mr. Nyländer has prepared with great industry and intelligence having been printed in this country, you will take a considerable supply of them with you; and will, of course, during your passage, make it your daily business to acquire as perfect a knowledge of that tongue as these books will supply, that you may be the better prepared to instruct the Bullom Youth in their own language, now first reduced to writing.

Bearing in mind the intimation given by Mr. Butscher

(13th Rep. p. 108), that Mr. Pierce, Chief on the Rio Nunis, about eighty miles north of Bashia, has been some time desirous that a Settlement should be formed in his territory, we wish you, Mr. Schulze, to confer with Mr. Butscher, and with your brethren in the Rio Pongas, on this subject: and, unless it shall appear that your assistance is necessary elsewhere, that you should open a negociation with him on the subject.

We refer you to the Instructions delivered to Mr. Butscher and his companions. The plan there proposed, grounded on our conferences with him, of placing at each Settlement two Missionaries and a Lay Mechanic, appears, from what has since occurred, to require some modification. Two of the three mechanics who went out with him have been removed by death: and there is too much reason to fear that such mechanics will not willingly continue for any considerable term to labour exclusively for the Society, if they find their labour productive of more advantage to themselves in other quarters. Instead of fixing such mechanics, therefore, in exclusive connection with the Society's Settlements, though but for a limited time, it appears expedient to us to encourage and assist the establishment of worthy men of this description in the country, but to leave them independent of the Society, while a fair and adequate remuneration shall be given to them for all the work which they may execute for the Settlements.

It has appeared to us, that a Lay Schoolmaster and Catechist connected with each Settlement will answer the double end of relieving the Missionary of the burden of secular cares; and, at the same time by devoting himself to the instruction of the children, will leave the Missionary at liberty to dedicate himself to the ministry of the Word. While he might thus render the establishment of two Missionaries in each Settlement, as a general principle, unnecessary, harmony and peace would be more likely to be secured, by his observance of that subordination which he would naturally feel due to the Missionary under whom he may be situated.

We address you, Mrs. Hartwig, with sincere sympathy in your past trials, and in those feelings which cannot but be awakened by your present undertaking. Be assured of our unfailing regard; and of our earnest prayers that your faith and hope may receive their full reward! Your husband invites you to return: he professes contrition for the past; and he declares his anxiety to labour during his remaining days under that Society whose service he had forsaken: he invites you to render him your aid. We could not venture to advise what step you should take on this important occasion. All we could do was to assure you of our utmost readiness to further your wishes, if you should determine to sacrifice your present comforts, in order to make yourself an offering on the altar of faith. You have determined in the spirit of the holy women of old time! Go forth, then, leaning on the Omnipotent Arm of your Heavenly Master! Good is designed for Africa. May you largely contribute to it, by becoming the instrument of fixing your once lost husband as an humble and patient labourer in the work of the Lord.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, you are sent to the Colony of Sierra Leone, to make an entrance on those exertions which we have it in contemplation to pursue on a large scale for the education of the children and the instruction of the Heathen under the British Government within the Colony. The claims of these children and natives begin to urge themselves loudly upon us. We have consented to Mr. Butscher's acceptance of the Colonial Chaplainship, with a view to their benefit. We send you in pursuance of the same design; and we place you for the present under his superintendance. And we have it in purpose to extend our efforts largely in the Colony.

Jellorrum Harrison, we wish you to proceed to the Rio Pongas; and, after visiting there those relatives, if still living, from whom you have for these many years been separated, to settle at Bashia, as Schoolmaster and Catechist, under Mr. Renner and Mr. Wilhelm; that Mr. Wilhelm may be left wholly at liberty to preach to the natives, either there, or wheresoever else an opening may be made for his labours. Having left your native shores under the late Mr. Brunton, and spent your youthful years with him at the Settlement of the Edinburgh Missionary Society at Karass, in Russian Tartary, you have been committed to our care by that respectable body, that your ardent wish might under us be accomplished, of returning to your native land, and of rendering yourself subservient to the eternal interests of your countrymen. May the Great Master whom we serve abundantly bless you; and make you an humble, diligent, faithful, and successful assistant in the work in which we are engaged for the good of your country; that your friends, to whom you are so much indebted for the past care of you, and we who send you forth committing you to God, may have an abundant reward in hearing of your steady walk as a true Christian.

Finally, beloved, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility. Be willing to keep your appointed place, and do the work of your day till the evening shall arrive, when you will retire to your eternal repose, and enter on the rest that remaineth for the children of God. Watch against those things which occasioned others to stumble, and some to fall: know where your strength lies! May God grant you by his Holy Spirit such an honest and ardent zeal for the glory of your Lord, that all the little and mean feelings which self puts forth may be shamed and banished from your souls! Watch, then, unto prayer! Be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might! Grieve not the Sacred Spirit by selfish and unholy tempers! May his blessed influence ever abide on you, and may God open before you opportunities of usefulness, which shall reward you a thousand fold for all your labour!

By order of the Committee,
(Signed) JOSIAH PRATT, Secretary.

REPLY of the MISSIONARIES, delivered by MR. SPERRHACKEN.

Honoured Gentlemen—

WHEN we consider the exertions made by this Honourable Society, and other Institutions, for the extension of the kingdom of our Lord, we adore Him in dust and ashes! I am desired to speak in the name of my brethren and sisters here present, while I say it also in my own, that we shall count it our greatest honour to render any assistance in this noble undertaking.

Respecting myself and my brother Mr. Schulze, permit me to say a few words.

Having passed about three years in the Seminary at Berlin, under the care of the Rev. Mr. Jænickè, we were called by your Society to enter on such station as might be appointed for us. After receiving Holy Orders from the Supreme Councellor of the Consistory, the Rev. Jacobus Hecker, in Berlin, we have spent about thirteen months in this country, chiefly under the care of the Rev.

Mr. Scott; who, as a faithful and true servant of God, has given us many paternal instructions and exhortations with respect to our future most important work in the Heathen World. For all his care we thank him cordially, before this Honourable Committee. May God make him, even in his old age, still a blessing to all around him!

And now, with our friends, we gladly obey that summons which has called us before the Honourable Committee, to go forth, in the face of the peculiar difficulties and impediments which seem to lie in our way. We are encouraged by considering that Christ's kingdom has, in every age, encountered many hinderances. Satan, as the greatest enemy of God and man, sets himself mainly against the extension of Christ's kingdom. As the God of this world, he reigns especially among the ignorant and idolatrous Heathen. The things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, and not to God. May the Lord open their eyes, and turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith that is in Him!

But, though we see many and great difficulties before us, yet when we behold what has been already accomplished by this and other Societies for the extension of Christ's kingdom, shall we be discouraged from entering on that work to which we are called? Shall we not trust in Almighty God, who is the sovereign of heaven and earth, who has all hearts in his powerful hand? We are willing, therefore, to be sent forth even at this time of more peculiar danger; and we trust in our Heavenly Master, that he will be with us by sea and land, as he has been in time past with all his servants; that he will assist us in all difficulties; that he will open to us doors for promoting his cause in preaching his glorious gospel. We rely on his gracious promises; and gather strength to our faith from our past experience of his protecting care. He hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee; so that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper: I will not fear what man can do unto me.

We cordially thank the Honourable Committee for all the kind instructions given to us, and for every provision made for our support and comfort. We shall always endeavour to fulfil the duties committed to us.

We earnestly intreat the Honourable Society to remember us, as its humble servants, in daily prayer before the throne of our gracious Lord. Poor and weak, we feel our daily need of his Almighty help. Convinced of our own inability and sinfulness, and that we without Him can do nothing; yet if he is with us, if his strength is made perfect in our weakness, we trust that we shall bring the glad tidings of His Holy Gospel before benighted Gentiles; and that our labour will not be in vain. For he, who has promised and is able to perform, has said, My word shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I send it.

REPLY of MRS. HARTWIG.

Gentlemen—

HAVING just arrived from York in this morning's mail, time will not permit me to say much to you upon the subject of my return to Africa. Nevertheless, I am desirous of laying before you a concise view of my feelings and prospects, at this important and interesting crisis.

I desire to express my unfeigned and heartfelt gratitude to Almighty God, who, in his mercy and long-suffering, hath been pleased to reclaim Mr. Hartwig, and to bring him back again to the service of the Mission. As a wife, I am bound to hasten to his assistance in the glorious work: and, although I seem to be going out more from a sense of duty to him, than from fervour and zeal for the cause of the Africans; yet I hope and trust that this spirit will still be enkindled in my breast, and that I shall count my life not dear, so that I may be made the honoured instrument of leading them to the Rock of Ages, and to the Lamb of God who taketh away the sins of the world. It is this, and this only, which can compensate for the sacrifices which I have been called to make, in quitting once more my native land, and for dissolving that tender and powerful union which binds and connects the various circles of social and domestic life.

The many favours which I have received, from time to time, and which I am now receiving from the Honourable Society, demand my warmest and sincere thanks; and, from past experience, I am constrained to place unfailing confidence in their future friendship and support. May the work of the Lord abundantly prosper in their hands, and may they never want the means to carry on so great and so glorious an undertaking.

Should sickness, pining sickness overtake me, as it hath formerly done on the coast of Africa, it would probably be right that I should return to this country, rather than fall a victim to the unwholesomeness of the climate, as my constitution, I fear, is not better, but rather worse able to sustain repeated attacks of fever, than it once was.

I go, Gentlemen, or desire to go forth, leaning only on the arm of Omnipotence, knowing that the Lord is my refuge, and that he will never leave nor forsake me. If I am enabled to assist Mr. Hartwig in any way, and to promote the noble work for which we at first embarked, all will be well: and, while I would humble myself in the sight of my Divine Master, for his having chosen me to be the feeble instrument for diffusing good among the poor dear Africans, I would desire to give to him ALL THE GLORY.

That a knowledge of the Redeemer's name and of His salvation may spread from shore to shore, and that all nations may be brought to bow to the sceptre of Jesus, is the sincere prayer of,

Gentlemen,
Your obliged and humble servant,
(Signed) SARAH HARTWIG.

REPLY of MR. JELLORRUM HARRISON.

Gentlemen—

IT is my duty, as well as my desire, to be thankful to the Society, for the kindness which they have shewn to me; and I take this opportunity of expressing my gratitude. I know that it is their desire, that I should make a good use of the favours which I have received; both for my own sake, and for the sake of my perishing countrymen. It is, therefore, my daily prayer to God, that he would impress his Truth more deeply on my own mind, that I may make some good return for the kindness which you and other Societies have shewn to me: and that I may not act as many of my countrymen have done, who, after receiving here education and religious instruction, on their return to their native country have disappointed the designs and wishes of their benefactors; and, instead of shewing good examples to their countrymen, and occupying themselves with their instruction, have turned out even worse than they. I am ashamed, and God only knows how it grieves me, to see the behaviour of my countrymen. It is certainly discouraging to those who wish their welfare, and strengthens the belief of those who think that we Africans are not a part of the same human race.

I have often thought of the kindness of God to me, in bringing me from a heathen country, where I was no better than any of my fellows, to a country where I have had the means of receiving that religious instruction, of which millions of my countrymen are deprived: and it is my daily prayer to that God who has been so kind to me, that he would teach me to make use of the talents which he has given me, in such a way as those do that are called his faithful servants. It is my duty and my desire to promote the great cause among my lost countrymen. I pray to God, therefore, that, through his goodness, he would make me the instrument of bringing many of my blind and perishing countrymen to the glorious light of the Gospel.

I have no doubt, but, through the generosity and benevolence of Britain, and the exertions of its Religious Societies, that Ethiopia shall soon stretch forth her hands unto God—Sing unto God, ye kingdoms of the earth, O sing praises unto the Lord! The time is now near when the Redeemer's praise shall resound from pole to pole, and from the river to the ends of the earth; and the kingdoms of the earth shall become the kingdoms of our God and of his Christ.

Oh that God would give success to the means used for the spread of the Everlasting Gospel through those darkened and so long enslaved countries; that they may be soon enlightened and become his freedmen.

I remain, with the deepest respect,

Your humble and much obliged servant,

(Signed) JELLORRUM HARRISON.

APPENDIX IV.

Letter from the Hon. Sir Alexander Johnston to Rev. Josiah Pratt.

My dear Sir— Colombo, June 25, 1804.

No person, I assure you, can be more sensible than I am of the great advantage which millions of the human race, in different parts of the world, must sooner or later derive from the exertions which the Society is making for the propagation of Christianity; and no person can be more anxious than I am, to co-operate with them by every means in my power, in carrying into effect among the inhabitants of this Island the benevolent and sacred object which they have so much at heart.

In consequence of the Resolution which the Society came to while I was in England, I have, ever since my return to the Island, been carefully observing the character and conduct of most of the young Cingalese of rank, who were likely to become fit subjects for the education which your Society has so liberally promised to give to any two of them whom I might select; and I am extremely happy to be enabled to inform you, that I have at last discovered two, who, I think, are in every respect deserving of the patronage of the Society. Their characters are unexceptionable, and their connections give them great influence among the Cingalese Inhabitants of the country. They have both attained the age of twenty-one, and have already had that sort of education, as to the English Language and the principles of Christianity, which will enable them to comprehend in a much shorter time, and with much more facility, than persons younger and less advanced than themselves could do, any instruction which your Society may think proper to give them.

The great-grandfather of these young men, Philip Philips Wolfendahl, was, owing to his piety and upright character, as well as to his great family influence among the Cingalese, in the year 1744, appointed, by the then Dutch Governor of these Settlements, Maha Modliar, or Chief of the whole of the Cingalese Inhabitants.

The Dutch Government, as the highest mark of respect which they could shew the family of this person, and as the best means of associating with those who professed Christianity on this island all the influence and authority which his relations and connections possessed among his countrymen, had his eldest son, Henricus Philips, educated in Holland, for the Church, at the public expense; and, after he had studied at one of the Dutch Universities for seven years, had him ordained and appointed from Holland to officiate as one of the Dutch Clergymen at this place. He, besides performing for many years all the duties of his office with great credit to himself and great advantage to his congregation, corrected the then existing Cingalese Translations of the Four Gospels and of the Acts of the Apostles; and himself, for the first time, translated into Cingalese the rest of the New Testament, and some of the books of the Old.

This person died, leaving three sons; all of whom the Dutch Government, from the same policy which I have already mentioned, caused to be educated for the Church at the public expense: the eldest, at the Seminary at Columbo; the second and third at an University in Holland. The third son died in Holland, after having officiated as a Clergyman in that country for some time. The eldest son died at Columbo, after having officiated for many years as one of the Clergymen of the place. The second son, after he had been ordained in Holland, returned to this Island in 1790, and died here a few years ago, leaving behind him the translations which he had made, with great care and trouble, of many of the books of the Old Testament, which have never yet been published, but which I am now endeavouring to collect for publication. Petrus Hermanus Gerardus Philips, one of the two young men whom I have selected, is the eldest son of this gentleman; and John Gerard Pevera Appohamy, the other, is a cousin of his.

Approving as I do of the policy of the Dutch, in as far as it relates to their mode of propagating Christianity among the natives, and wishing to shew the natives that I thought the same system should be pursued by the English, I anxiously seized the opportunity which the Resolution of the Society afforded me of manifesting my respect for a family, which had been distinguished for the Cingalese, in the year 1744, appointed, by the then Dutch Governor of these Settlements, Maha Modliar, or Chief of the whole of the Cingalese Inhabitants.

The Dutch Government, as the highest mark of respect which they could shew the family of this person, and as the best means of associating with those who professed Christianity on this island all the influence and authority which his relations and connections possessed among his countrymen, had his eldest son, Henricus Philips, educated in Holland, for the Church, at the public expense; and, after he had studied at one of the Dutch Universities for seven years, had him ordained and appointed from Holland to officiate as one of the Dutch Clergymen at this place. He, besides performing for many years all the duties of his office with great credit to himself and great advantage to his congregation, corrected the then existing Cingalese Translations of the Four Gospels and of the Acts of the Apostles; and himself, for the first time, translated into Cingalese the rest of the New Testament, and some of the books of the Old.

This person died, leaving three sons; all of whom the Dutch Government, from the same policy which I have already mentioned, caused to be educated for the Church at the public expense: the eldest, at the Seminary at Columbo; the second and third at an University in Holland. The third son died in Holland, after having officiated as a Clergyman in that country for some time. The eldest son died at Columbo, after having officiated for many years as one of the Clergymen of the place. The second son, after he had been ordained in Holland, returned to this Island in 1790, and died here a few years ago, leaving behind him the translations which he had made, with great care and trouble, of many of the books of the Old Testament, which have never yet been published, but which I am now endeavouring to collect for publication. Petrus Hermanus Gerardus Philips, one of the two young men whom I have selected, is the eldest son of this gentleman; and John Gerard Pevera Appohamy, the other, is a cousin of his.

Approving as I do of the policy of the Dutch, in as far as it relates to their mode of propagating Christianity among the natives, and wishing to shew the natives that I thought the same system should be pursued by the English, I anxiously seized the opportunity which the Resolution of the Society afforded me of manifesting my respect for a family, which had been distinguished for the last sixty years, by the numbers of able and respectable men belonging to it, who had most materially assisted the cause of Christianity among the people of this Island; and I accordingly felt great pleasure in being able, from a conviction of the merits of the two young men whom I have mentioned, to select from that family the persons who are to receive so marked an honour as that of being educated and ordained under the care and patronage of so distinguished a Society.

Having mentioned the subject to General Brownrigg, our present Governor, he has agreed, on behalf of Government, to pay the expense of the voyage of the young men to England; and I therefore expect that they will leave this for England either in October or January next.

I cannot conclude without informing you of my views with respect to that part of your letter to me, in which you suggest that if a Society could be organised in Ceylon, as an Auxiliary to your Church Missionary Society, it would tend greatly to further your wishes and plans. I have read with great attention the plan, contained in the First Number of the Missionary Register, of Church Missionary Associations; and intend to propose to such of the persons here as are likely to agree with me upon the subject, to have a Church Missionary Association at Columbo, with subordinate Associations of the same description at Jaffna, Galle, and Trincomalee, which are the principal British Stations on this Island: and, with the view of procuring the aid of the natives themselves in the measure, I mean further to propose that each of the principal Castes among them should also form, for the same purposes, subordinate Associations: and, that they may be fully acquainted with the nature of the plan, I have directed the First Number of the Register to be immediately translated into Cingalese, Tamul, Dutch, and Portuguese, which are the languages that are the most generally understood throughout these Settlements.

Believe me to be, with great esteem and respect,

My dear Sir,

Your very faithful and most obedient Servant,

(Signed) ALEXANDER JOHNSTON.

APPENDIX V.

Letter from the Rev. John Paterson to the Rev. Josiah Pratt.

Rev. Sir— St. Petersburgh, 23d March, 1815.

You may perhaps think me guilty of forgetfulness or negligence, in my deferring so long to write to you on the subject of our conversation the morning I breakfasted with you, previous to my leaving London; but I can assure you that I have neither forgot nor neglected the subject. The Bible Society has a paramount claim on my time and my services; and, on my return to Russia, I neither could nor durst think of any thing else, until I got every thing in order. Thank God, this is now the case; and we are proceeding rapidly with the printing of the Scriptures in twelve different languages, to the number of 92,000 copies. It still requires much attention to keep the machine in order; but I am able to steal an hour now and then for correspondence, and especially on the extension of the kingdom of our Lord and his Christ.

You, no doubt, recollect that the subject of our conversation was, a suitable station for Missionaries from the Church Missionary Society, on the confines of Russia; and that I pointed out the lately-ceded provinces of Persia, as the most proper field to be occupied by the Missionaries belonging to your Society.

Since my return to Petersburg I have reflected much on this subject; and have had frequent conversations with my friends here, who are perfectly acquainted with the country situated on the shores of the Caspian, and with the character of the inhabitants. Sir Gore Ouseley has communicated much valuable information; and, from all that I have been able to learn, Persia appears to be a most promising field for Protestant Missionaries. The circumstance of the Roman Catholics having had Missionaries in that country for so many years, is a sufficient proof of the practicability of propagating the Gospel in that kingdom.

All are of opinion, however, that if any are sent out, they ought not to go under the character of Missionaries, but of Men of Learning: and that they ought to confine themselves, in the first instance, to learning the language, and distributing the Scriptures; and, as opportunity may offer, to enter on discussions with the learned Persians on the subject of religion, of which they are said to be particularly fond; and although they maintain their tenets with warmth, are never offended with the warmth of their opponent, provided he does not revile their Prophet, or call them Infidels. They seem to think, that under the character of Learned Men, they may travel all over the country without danger.

But my friends are of opinion, that, if any of the Mahometants were to renounce their religion, they would be persecuted to death, unless protected by Government. This protection they can only enjoy on the confines of the British Dominions in the East, or of Russia.

After the Missionaries had made themselves perfect masters of the language, and had become acquainted with the situation of the country and the character of the inhabitants, they would be able to judge for themselves, and fix on a station which perhaps would be preferable to any pointed out to them by men who had not explored the country with a Missionary Eye. All agree, that any who go must be men of sterling piety; must have a considerable acquaintance with the world, be men of great prudence, and have a respectable share of learning, and an aptness to acquire foreign languages.

I would advise that two young men should at first be sent, who were well prepared for entering on such an important Mission; and that others should be held in readiness to follow them as soon as they had fixed on a scene of labour. The neighbourhood of the Caspian Sea is a most central situation. Here they would have access to Persians, Armenians, Georgians, Turks, and Tartars; distribute the Scriptures in all these languages; and make themselves generally understood to them all, through the medium of the Persian alone.

It would appear, that the Great Head of the Church has especially designed your Society to labour among the Mahometans, and to be the instrument of calling them to the knowledge of the Gospel. The present state of this people, all over the world, seems to indicate an approaching change amongst them; and it is a most encouraging circumstance, that, at this very moment, the Holy Scriptures are printing in Arabic, in Turkish, in Tartar, and in Persian, the four great languages of the votaries of the False Prophet. If your Society follow up its plans, and print suitable Tracts in these Languages, and send out Missionaries to distribute them, and, by oral instruction, to enforce the doctrines of the Gospel, you have every reason to expect success.

I think it unnecessary to communicate more information on the subject, until I hear from you that you are resolved to take it up.

Accept of my most sincere thanks for the publications of your Society, which you had the goodness to send me. They have been acceptable to many. May I hope that you will send me those which you have printed since, through the same channel? Wishing the blessing of God to rest on all your endeavours,

I am yours, with much respect,

(Signed) JOHN PATERSON.

APPENDIX VI.

Letter of Rev. Samuel Marsden to Rev. Josiah Pratt.

Dear Sir— Parramatta, Sept. 22d, 1814.

I BEG leave to submit a few observations to the Society, relative to the maintaining of a vessel in New South Wales, for the sole purpose of promoting the good of the Mission to be established in New Zealand.

1. The comfort and safety of the Missionaries will, at least for some time, require a vessel to visit them, entirely under the direction of the Society's Agent, or of some Christian Friends.

2. Nothing could contribute so much to the civilization and improvement of the New Zealanders in all useful knowledge, as a free and open communication with Port Jackson. Men from report can form little idea of the comforts of civil life: these comforts are so far out of their reach, that, when they are told of them, they can give no credit to the relation.

3. The wanton acts of oppression, robberies, and murders committed on the persons and properties of the natives of New Zealand, have completely destroyed all confidence in Europeans. They manifest every wish to cultivate our friendship; but woeful experience has taught them not to trust us too much. Nothing but a practical knowledge of the ENGLISH CHRISTIAN'S CHARACTER can remove their prejudices and jealousies. If the Society had a vessel wholly under its own direction, in which the natives could freely pass from New Zealand to Port Jackson, and back again to their own country, and be kindly treated while on their voyage, and cordially received on their arrival, a most favourable impression would soon be made upon them, as they are naturally a very superior race of men, of very quick and comprehensive minds. If such arrangements could be made, every reasonable hope might be entertained, that the greatest success, under the Divine Blessing, would attend the Mission. If no measure of this kind is adopted, the Mission may still succeed; yet, according to human estimation, the prospect of success will not be so promising.

The expense, I admit, will be very considerable, where provisions, naval stores, and seamen's wages are very high. The annual expense of the Active, I estimate at 1,500*l.* as near as I can form an idea. I have no doubt but that the timber and other productions which the Active will bring to Port Jackson, will make a return of 1,000*l.* per annum, and probably more: she may even clear her own expenses. After I have visited New Zealand, and examined its natural productions, I shall be a better judge.

The object is, however, of incalculable importance. The whole inhabitants of that great and populous island are literally sitting in darkness and in the region and shadow of death. Should its natives, through the blessing of God, be subdued by the sword of the Spirit to the obedience of faith, all the neighbouring islands will be likely to fall under the same Almighty Influence, as they are inhabited by a race of men who speak the same or a similar language.

New Zealand must be always considered as the great emporium of the South Seas, from its local situation, its safe harbours, its navigable rivers, its fine timber for ship-building, its rosin, native flax, &c. &c., specimens of which I intend sending to the Society by this conveyance. I trust the Society will not be discouraged on account of the weighty expences that will necessarily and unavoidably attend the first establishment of the Mission.

I have no doubt but the Great Head of the Church will provide; for the gold and silver are his, and so are the cattle upon a thousand hills. I shall feel it my duty, as well as pleasure, to give every support to the Mission, so far as my personal exertions, my pecuniary means, and my influence in this Colony may extend.

The owners of South Sea Whalers will, I think, readily contribute their aid to the Society in this undertaking, as their ships on the coast of New Zealand may safely put into the Bay of Islands, and obtain such refreshments as they may require, when once the Missionaries become resident there, without any apprehensions of their crews being cut off: whereas, at present, they are in considerable danger.

I need not point out to the owners of South Sea

Whalers, how much it is, in general, against their interest for any of their ships to put into the harbour of Port Jackson for refreshments. Their captains and crews are almost certain to be ruined, from the dangerous connections which they there form. It would, therefore, be greatly to the pecuniary advantage of all those concerned in the Sperm Fishery, to give every support to the Mission at New Zealand.

His Majesty's Ministers, I should think, will also take the Mission into their favourable consideration, from the official communication which his Excellency, Governor Macquarrie, has made to them on the subject. His Excellency is fully satisfied, that much may be done for the improvement of the natives of that island; and has given me his full sanction to visit the island with the Missionaries and the Chiefs, who are at present living with me. His Excellency has been kind enough to victual the Chiefs, and their Attendants, from his Majesty's stores, during their stay in this Settlement, which is the highest testimony of his approbation, and will very considerably lessen the expence of their support. His Excellency hath further manifested his good-will, by promising, on the natives' return, to present each of the Chiefs with a new suit of clothes; their coats to be made of scarlet cloth: and each of them with a cow from his Majesty's herds. From what has taken place, and from present appearances, I trust, the Society will be fully satisfied, that there is now a fair opening at New Zealand for the introduction of the everlasting Gospel of our blessed Lord, and I most ardently pray that the attempt may not fail for want of pecuniary assistance; and am confident it will not.

With my most respectful compliments to the Society,
I beg to subscribe myself,
Rev. Sir,
Your most obedient humble servant,
(Signed) SAMUEL MARSDEN.

I have had (says Mr. Marsden, in a subsequent letter) the most ardent wish, for some years past, to see these islands receive the blessings of civilization and the Gospel; and now, I trust, the time is come when the great work will be entered on. Had the Active returned without obtaining the object of her voyage, it was my intention to sell her immediately; and not to call on the Society for any money on her account: but the object of the voyage has been more than answered. When I purchased the vessel, she was then bound to the Derwent on government account, which made the voyage, altogether, ten weeks longer than it otherwise would have been, and consequently increased the expences. She had a larger complement of men the last voyage, than she will ever want again; as I did not think it prudent to send the vessel without a sufficient number of men to protect her, in case any unforeseen circumstances had taken place. She will now be navigated in a great measure by the natives of New Zealand, and her expences, on that account, not so great.

Communication from the King of Persia to the British and Foreign Bible Society, relative to the late Rev. H. Martyn's Translation of the New Testament into Persian.

From His Excellency Sir Gore Ousely, Bart. Ambassador Extraordinary from His Britannic Majesty to the Court of Persia. Addressed to the Right Hon. Lord Teignmouth, President of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

My dear Lord— St. Petersburgh, Sept. 20, 1814.

FINDING that I am likely to be detained here some six or seven weeks, and apprehensive that my letters from Persia may not have reached your Lordship, I conceive it my duty to acquaint you, for the information of the Society of Christians formed for the purpose of propagating the Sacred Writings, that, agreeably to the wishes of our poor friend, the late Rev. Henry Martyn, I presented in the name of the Society (as he particularly desired) a copy of his translation of the New Testament into the Persian Language, to his Persian Majesty, Fateh Ali Shah Kajar, having first made conditions that his Majesty was to peruse the whole, and favour me with his opinion of the style, &c.

Previous to delivering the book to the Shah, I employed transcribers to make some copies of it, which I distributed to Hajee Mahomed Hussein Khan, Prince of Maru, Mirza Abdulwahab, and other men of learning and rank immediately about the person of the King, who, being chiefly converts to the Soofi Philosophy, would, I felt certain, give it a fair judgment, and, if called upon by the Shah for their opinion, report of it according to its intrinsic merits.

The inclosed translation of a letter from his Persian Majesty to me, will shew your Lordship that he thinks the complete work a great acquistion, and that he approves of the simple style, adopted by my lamented friend, Martyn, and his able co-adjutor, Mirza Seyed Ali, so appropriate to the just and ready conception of the sublime morality of the Sacred Writings. Should the Society express a wish to possess the original letter from the Shah, or a copy of it in Persian, I shall be most happy to present either through your Lordship.

I beg leave to add, that, if a correct copy of Mr. Martyn's translation has not yet been presented to the Society, I shall have great pleasure in offering one that has been copied from and collated with the original left with me by Mr. Martyn, on which he had bestowed the greatest pains to render it perfect.

I also promise to devote my leisure to the correction of the press, in the event of your thinking proper to have it printed in England, should my Sovereign not have immediate occasion for my services out of England.

I am, &c.

GORE OUSELY.

Translation of his Persian Majesty's Letter, referred to in the preceding.

" In the Name of the Almighty God, whose Glory is most excellent.

" It is our august command, that the dignified and excellent, our trusty, faithful, and loyal well-wisher, Sir Gore Ousely, Baronet, His Britannic Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary, (after being honoured and exalted with the expressions of our highest regard and consideration,) should know, that the Copy of the Gospel, which was translated into Persian by the learned exertions of the late Rev. Henry Martyn, and which has been presented to us by your Excellency on the part of the high, dignified, learned, and enlightened Society of Christians, united for the purpose of spreading abroad the Holy Books of the Religion of Jesus, (upon whom, and upon all Prophets, be peace and blessings!) has reached us, and has proved highly acceptable to our august mind.

" In truth, through the learned and unremitted exertions of the Rev. Henry Martyn, it has been translated in a style most befitting Sacred Books, that is, in an easy and simple diction. Formerly, the Four Evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John, were known in Persia; but now the whole of the New Testament is completed in a most excellent manner: and this circumstance has been an additional source of pleasure to our enlightened and august mind. Even the Four Evangelists, which were known in this country, had never been before explained in so clear and luminous a manner. We, therefore, have been particularly delighted with this copious and complete translation. If it please the most merciful God, we shall command the Select Servants, who are admitted to our presence, to read * to us the abovementioned Book from the beginning to the end, that we may, in the most minute manner, hear and comprehend its contents.

"Your Excellency will be pleased to rejoice the hearts of the above-mentioned, dignified, learned, and enlightened Society, with assurances of our highest regard and approbation; and to inform those excellent individuals, who are so virtuously engaged in disseminating and making known the true meaning and intent of the Holy Gospel, and other points in Sacred Books, that they are deservedly honoured with our royal favour. Your Excellency must consider yourself as bound to fulfil this royal request.

Given in Rebialavil, 1229.

(Sealed) FATEH ALI SHAH KAJAR."

* I beg leave to remark, that the word "Tilawat," which the Translator has rendered "read," is an honourable signification of that act, almost exclusively applied to the perusing or reciting the Koran. The making use, therefore, of this term or expression, shews the degree of respect and estimation in which the Shah holds the New Testament.

Note by Sir Gore Ousely.

BALLINCOLLIG ASSOCIATION.

This Association was formed in September, 1813, as Auxiliary to the Parent Society in London, but, on the formation of the Hibernian Auxiliary Church Missonary Society, united itself to it, as the most natural mode of communicating with, and encreasing the Funds of the Parent Society. It consists of the Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates of the Royal Artillery, stationed at Ballincollig, in the County of Cork: assisted by the Rev. Henry Irwin, Chaplain to the Royal Artillery at that Station. These gallant Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates having been exempted from the toils and perils of their brethren in arms, in conquering a Peace in Foreign Countries, and being allowed to enjoy repose at home, have not been less honourably or gloriously employed in contributing their united exertions to extend the Kingdom of the Prince of Peace, by assisting the efforts of those who are sending Missionaries to the Heathen. The only Officers of this Association are a Treasurer and two Secretaries, who act as Collectors of the Subscriptions, which are almost entirely confined to ONE PENNY each per WEEK.

Treasurer,
REV. HENRY IRWIN.
